Each person has his niche:
The maverick;
The buddy-seeker;
The crowd-lover.
All people have their individual
needs;
A school must meet these needs.

The loner wants time by himself,
Yet occasionally, he will want
companionship,
Or the excitement of a crowd.
To provide all three of these—
This is our goal.

Emphasis is on expanded learning,
Specialized training,
Concentrated studying.
Students realize the need to work to their capacity.
But how?

Wakefield must provide an opportunity for Warriors:
To question with interested counselors.
To challenge in group discussions;
To explore with expert equipment;
To create through individual projects—
This is our goal.

Changes in

Academics

The popular ones dominate;
Ability, not popularity,
Should be the standard.

To give Warriors the chance
To know one group well—
Their limitations,
Their proficiencies,
Enabling higher standards
Of leadership to be attained—
This is our goal.

Changes in Athletics

Not everybody can play football;
Not everybody wants to.
But no-one is meant only to work,
Recreation is important.
Some dislike vigorous activities;
Some lack the time;
Not all have the ability.
More is required than the orthodox sports,
As baseball and basketball.
New sports- bowling, field hockey, cycling-
Are essential.

To provide a field in which each Warrior can recreate-
This is our goal.

Students want to be individuals,
Not names, or numbers,
They like, on occasion,
To work with a teacher more personally,
To know their teacher
As a friend, and confident.

To give teachers the opportunities
To work with smaller groups;
To help students with their problems;
To meet their students as persons;
This is our goal.

Superintendent of Schools Coordinates System

Supervision of the Arlington County School system rests with Mr. Ray E. Reid. Mr. Reid is a native Virginian, who received both his Bachelors and Master's degrees from William and Mary College. He served as teacher, coach, and principal in the state before being appointed to his present position in 1958.

Superintendent Reid's major responsibilities this year include preparing the school budget, now totaling more than sixteen and a half million dollars, and aiding the school board in policy-making. In addition, he is responsible for co-ordinating and improving the instructional program of Arlington County's educational system, in collaboration with his professional staff.

DR. HAROLD M. WILSON

Principal Initiates Division System

A school is the reflection of the personality of its principal, and so is Wakefield a mirror of the ideals of Dr. Harold Wilson. Dr. Wilson became principal of the school at its establishment in 1953. As its first and only leader, he is an acknowledged expert with a qualified background in the field of education. Graduated from Vincennes University with a Phi Beta Kappa Key, Dr. Wilson received his Master's Degree at the University of Indiana and his Ph. D. at George Washington University. He now serves as Chairman of the Virginia Committee of the Southern Association of Colleges.

Dr. Wilson is the initiator of the new divisional system in Wakefield. This system was patterned after subordinate schools in numerous universities throughout the nation. Through the system he hopes to increase student participation in school activities. In summarizing some of the expected results of the divisional system, Dr. Wilson states: "A school enrolling 2400 students, serviced by a professional staff of over 135 persons can provide a rich and diverse educational offering. It can provide academic classes not usually offered in high schools. A large school has these definite advantages. It also has some disadvantages. Its size makes it difficult to arrange for close staff-student relationships. Twenty-four hundred students using the services of one administrative unit may feel that these services are hurried and impersonal. They may feel lost and intimidated by the size and complexity of the large school. The division organization attempts to avoid these disadvantages by creating several staff and student centers rather than one. It is hoped that the three centers provided at Wakefield can serve as small school headquarters for our students and provide them with the advantage of small school closeness at the same time that they are enjoying the educational offering of the large school."

Division Directors Comment on Changes

Richard Johnson

Mr. Richard Johnson, a graduate of the University of Virginia, came to Wakefield in its opening year as a science teacher. Since then he has taught German, social studies, and has served as varsity football coach. This year, with the division system, he is chief administrator of J division, consisting of approximately 800 students from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes.

Mr. Johnson had the following to say concerning the division system: "Our present division system provides many additional opportunities for the development of student leadership, service, and growth. These additional opportunities contribute to a feeling of security, happiness, and achievement on the part of the entire student body.

Mary Mare

Mrs. Mary Mare, a graduate of Bucknell, is one of the few "charter members" of our faculty. In addition to having served as Dean of Girls, she is now entrusted with the responsibility of legal matters involving students, and the supervision of the cafeteria. As administrator of "M" division, she has aided her division in being the first to ratify its constitution and to elect its officers.

Regarding the change from a class to a divisional system, Mrs. Mare says: "Static practices in schools, when schools are a vital part of a radically changing dynamic world, are unconscionable and irresponsible. Concerned educators are scrutinizing and re-evaluating what kinds of schools we have and what we are doing with them. Greater flexibility in scheduling and curriculum is needed. Abolishing grade levels altogether may be the next forward step."

Henry Renz

Mr. Henry Renz, a former student teacher at Wakefield, graduated from George Washington University where he received his Bachelors and Masters' degrees. He has been chairman of the Eighth Grade, sponsor of the Tenth Grade, sponsor of the Senior Class, Assistant Principal, and Twelfth Grade Division Director before assuming the office of Chief Administrator of "R" Division this year.

Concerning the division system, he has said: "The division organization affords greater opportunity for focusing the services of the staff on the concerns of individual students. We would hope, as a result, to be more effective in our work. There is much to be done to extend the effectiveness of the division system, but the experiences of this yar have reinforced my commitment to this concept of school organization."

Director of Athletics

Mr. Sonen, who came here in 1953, began as director of Health, physical education and athletics. Previous to his coming to Wakefield, he was a football official for fifteen years following his graduation from the University of Maryland. His duties now include the coordination of health and physical education, the organization of intra-school competition, and the training for classroom and division civil defense.

Concerning the division system he states: "The Division System has cohesiveness as its main advantage over the old grade level division. It should make for a more closely knit school—a better school than ever with more school spirit."

Director of Guidance

Director of Guidance, Mr. Francis Campbell, taught at Washington-Lee before coming to Wakefield as its first Guidance Counselor. After receiving his Bachelor of Science Degree from Pennsylvania State Teachers' College, he received his Master of Arts in Education at George Washington University. His present duties include the co-ordinating of the guidance facilities and their reorganization into the division structure, supervision of scheduling, and the co-ordination of standardized testing.

His opinion on the divisional structure is: "The divisional organization makes it possible for each counselor to work with sophomores, juniors, and seniors during the same school year. At the beginning of each year the counselor already knows two-thirds of his students and needs only to learn to know the sophomores in his group."

Guidance Provides Leadership for the Change

The Guidance Department has recently undergone radical changes in procedures. Counselors have shifted emphasis from class to divisional coverage, with each working with a portion of all three classes. This program allows counselors to devote more time to individuals and their problems. It also permits a student to continue throughout the three years at Wakefield with the same counselor, establishing an identity for himself, rather than being only a part of a large class.

Upperclassmen Study English Classics

This year Upperclass English students have been given the opportunity to delve more deeply into many of the finer points of the humanities. Their reading experiences have been broadened through studying some of the great works, such as Macbeth, Beowulf, and Paradise Lost.

In addition, many students have been offered an English-Art-Music Seminar. This course links the study of the three disciplines and aims to teach students better to appreciate all of them. Students are given the opportunity to see and hear the many fine artists in the Washington area, as well as to get a sampling of New York talent through their annual field trip. The department's concern is with giving students a strong English background in preparation for their future, whatever it may be.

Eleventh Grade Plans American Seminar

The Eleventh Grade English Department has been directed to a more varied curriculum this year. In addition to the regular study of American literature and philosophy, several teachers have added opportunities for a broader spectrum of learning. Under these teachers, student activities range from acting portions of Wilder's Our Town to a program in literature, similar to the English Seminar, for selected students. If the program succeeds, the faculty intends to expand it into a complete seminar for the eleventh grade.

10th Grade English Establishes New Program

An "Honors" program was introduced in January to accompany the basic curriculum of fundamental grammar and the rudiments of analysis within the Sophomore English Department. Although this "Honors program concerns all three grades, this year's 10th graders will be the first to participate in the program for all years of high school. Under this new plan, the students will meet after school for one week per quarter to receive instructions, while having a reading period during their regular English class. They then proceed with independent study until the end of the semester when they submit topic papers. Any student with an "A" or "B" average in English is eligible; participants receive credit on their college applications.

Foreign Language Increases Laboratories

Fluency is the keynote of the Foreign Language Department this year as it makes strides in providing a forceful program.

By offering intensified courses in French and at least four years of study in the other languages, Latin, German, and Spanish, students are able to prepare for college with a thorough background and fluent command of the language.

Three language laboratories are now available, each accommodating thirty students. Here they can listen both to their own recorded voices and to prepared tapes. All the laboratories remain open for an hour and a half after school to offer an additional opportunity for practice.

Social Studies Department Awaits Expansion

In an effort to increase enthusiasm and give a realistic portrayal of historical events, the department has recently secured movies on important areas in history. In addition to the films, the department has obtained several hundred new books. A new technique has been introduced this year, which brings speakers into the classes. Many students have taken part in field trips to Congress.

The department has been giving emphasis to "grouping" students to develop classes with similar learning rates. This program calls for smaller classes and more classrooms. Under the appropriations bill passed by the county board recently, a new wing will be added to accommodate more classrooms. This expansion and the previous one completed last January will tend to relieve crowded conditions.

Mathematics Offers Courses for All Students

Adaptation of courses to the needs of the students has been a major factor in the shaping of the Mathematics Department. Mrs. Ruth Hoy, chairman, has indicated that the department has been stressing the adjustment of courses to fit the students.

The Advanced Placement Program is now being offered, in addition to the regular courses, to present the gifted students with an accelerated course in the senior year, in preparation for college. For Upperclassmen planning a vocation after graduation, Senior Mathematics is offered; this provides students with an especially designed course in Consumer Mathematics.

Introduced as an experimental program this year, Temac Algebra I consists of a set of programmed books, which allow students to progress at their own pace. The teacher checks the progress and supplies supplementary materials. Good results of the program have been shown, as the failure of Algebra I students dropped from 20% to 9%.

Science Department Expands Team Teaching

Mrs. Linde has directed the Science Department's modernization and extension drive this year. This project has included a change in the biology facilities to allow room for its team teachers. Now, larger classes can benefit from up-to-date equipment and the advantages of two teachers. A new addition to the department includes a closed-circuit television.

Biology II has been reinstated this year, and the Chemistry course expanded to accommodate more students. All Physics students can now participate in the expanded Physical Science Study course. These achievements are only a sample of the plans to facilitate learning in the Science Department.

Business Initiates Data Processing

The Business Department has embarked on a program of expansion this year providing students with a number of new courses, especially in the area of Business Machines. Equipment used in the initial phases of data processing—key punch and sorter—has been purchased. This is in anticipation of furnishing a complete set of machines to provide a data processing course. Students have been trained to interpret and produce accurately punched cards, and to arrange them for electronic tabulators. Other courses offered include Business Law, Economics, and Typing I and II.

Home Economics Stressing Homemaking Skills

The "Art of Homemaking" has been the central theme this year in the Home Economics Department, linking the multitude of courses offered.

Under the direction of Mrs. Minnie Tate, the Home Economics Department has offered such courses as Senior Homemaking, Homemaking I and II as general courses, and courses of Clothing, Marriage, Understanding Children, and Christmas for Teens for those who desire to specialize further.

To help the students both as prospective parents and as older brothers and sisters to understand children, a nursery has been set up where students are able to observe children and to learn from experience how to handle them.

Industrial Arts Classes Emphasize the Practical

The Industrial Arts Department encourages intricate skill in the fields of Woodworking and Metal-working.

Many courses requiring precise and detailed work, such as Lapidary and Jewelrymaking, Engineering, Woodworking, Graphic Arts, and Mechanical Drawing are offered this year. Results of these courses are seen in various showcases around the school; handmade jewelry from the Lapidary class is quite popular. Small items are not the only result, for recently students from the department completed a sizable boat, the product of three years work.

This department has also been a popular one for Adult Education; this year it offers training to the largest group ever in such courses.

Library Expands

With over 15,000 books and 135 periodicals, the library is the center of quiet individual study at Wakefield. Besides increasing the number of books and films, one of the librarians has formed a library club, better to inform students of the available studying materials. This club makes posters and decorates bulletin boards to advise their classmates of the library services.

These supplemented services have necessitated the addition of three librarians. New facilities are being planned to accommodate the increased supply of magazines, and to make student access to these periodicals easier.

Drama Goes Greek

A very active drama program has been offered to students by the Speech and Drama Department with the direction of Mrs. Shell. This is in addition to the regular curriculum of speech which allows the students to learn to express themselves clearly and with confidence before a large group.

Highlighting the efforts expended on the minor plays is the producing of the Fall and Spring Plays. These plays give students the opportunity to perform before the rest of the student body and a large group of adults.

Divisional System Uses Music Talent

Under the new divisional system, the music department has been able to provide the school with a greater quantity of fine music. Since each division now sponsors its own assembly, there is an increased demand for the musical talents of the Chorus, Orchestra, and Band. A select group of the Chorus, the Wakefield Singers, have given concerts throughout the community as well as in the school, and this year, for the first time, the Marching Band has performed at the football games.

Personal Attention Key to Special Ed.

Under the direction of Mr. Simasek, the Special Education class have made a major contribution to the students of Wakefield. With the aid of Mrs. Almy, these classes have been able to give many the personal attention that they need. In cooperating with the George Mason Occupational Training Center, Wakefield has had a joint pre-vocational training course for Wakefield's advanced classes. As a result, many trainees have been able to begin full time occupation upon graduation.

School Increases Secretarial Staff

The responsibility for the clerical work in Wakefield rests with the Secretarial Staff, now increased to fourteen. The language laboratories, science department, and each division have secretaries. Others work in the office, take care of the complex Central Attendance system, and assist in the library. These women handle the important, but sometimes tedious specifics of maintaining a large school.

Mr. Johnson's duties as "J" director include supervision of divisional counselors.

Stephanie Wynne and Terry Latsios represent "J" Upperclassmen in the Upper Class Council.

"J" Division and its counterparts, "M" and "R," were first introduced to Wakefield students in the spring of 1963. At an administration-sponsored assembly, Dr. Wilson briefly explained the divisional plan and its purposes.

According to plan, each division contains approximately equal numbers of tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students. The primary purpose of such groupings was to attain more student participation. Previous class sponsors were designated as division heads, and members of the division were selected through random sampling.

Thus far, the divisions seem very similar in plan. The distinction comes in student government. Because the government is in the hands of the students; the offices, constitutions, and activities all vary.

"J" Division, in an effort to get full student cooperation in their activities, sacrificed the expediency in activities noted in the other divisions. Their constitution, which required a two-thirds vote of ratification, took somewhat longer to approve. This individuality of techniques between divisions should be noted as part of the original plan.

Divisional activities have a wide range. One of the most popular areas of the program is intramurals. Since the establishment of divisions, intramurals have been altered to the extent that teams are now selected by divisions rather than by grade levels.

One of the newest areas of intramural competition is gymnastics. This sport included competition on the parallel bars, rope climbing, side horse, and trampoline. Each division compiles points and proclaims a champion.

The divisions are unique only as the students in them are unique. Their governments and the fulfillment of their wants can only be as effective as the members willing to work on them. Their success is up to the students.

Intramural gymnastics, proposed by Mr. Ponis of "J," give Al Caddy and Rick Wilson a chance to strengthen their muscles and their divisional ties.

"M" Division

"M" Upperclass Representatives, Pat Herrell and Bob Riordan, post current announcements on their divisional bulletin board.

Administrative duties as well as disciplinary action occupy the time of Mrs. Mare as director of "M" Division.

Mike Fitzhugh presides over an "M" General Assembly meeting, while Pat Herrell takes minutes. Attentive and functioning officers are responsible for successful government.

The divisional system was established for the benefit of the students. Leadership comes from the student body itself; therefore the success and uniqueness of the division depends on its leaders.

"M" Division, to avoid confusion with other school officers, has named their student leaders, "governor," and "lieutenant governor." In addition, it has elected secretaries to handle the various phases of student life. These officers, with the Judicial Council and the General Assembly, meet once a month to work on divisional business.

The Judicial Council is one area of government exclusive to this division. It is composed of seven members appointed by the Governor and subject to the approval of the General Assembly. Two are from the tenth grade, two from the eleventh grade, and three from the twelfth grade. Their official duties include making final interpretation of the constitution upon a written request from at least ten per cent of the division body. Members also act in an advisory capacity to the Governor. All Student Cooperative Association members of the division serve as ex officio members of the council. This relationship involves another important duty of the Council: to support and work closely with the S.C.A. The Judicial Council and S.C.A. have a reciprocal agreement in which each keeps the other informed of its actions.

It is through such cooperation with the school governing body of the S.C.A. that the divisions remained unified.

"R" Division

"R" Upperclassmen Jeff Golden and Ralph Rowsey hold positions in the Upperclass Council.

Under the direction of Mr. Renz, "R" Division has become "a school within a school."

Taking care of attendance, scheduling, and report cards requires the clerical assistance of Joan Ann Craig and Lynda Hays, division helpers.

In the effort to have all students participate in some school activity, too many officers can be a problem. To combat this potential difficulty, "R" Division has tried to limit the number of officers, while maintaining high standards of leadership. This plan can be contrasted with the procedures of other divisions, but each has its advantages.

The office is the center of "R" Division activities. Here students enroll, withdraw, are suspended, and receive acknowledgement of their achievements. The office is not just a business place, for this is where many of the pre-college activities take place. Students work with counselors from their division, and spend spare time reading college catalogues furnished by the office. Divisional heads also give consultation to students concerning their future. The division secretary controls the absence procedures and handles records for each of the students. Many Warriors volunteer to work during their study halls as office assistants.

"R" Division's record of business completed during organizational operations points to the quality of leadership in the division. They were the first to ratify their constitution, hold campaign speeches and elect all their officers. Almost immediately, they began holding regular meetings. These achievements are evidence not only of the type of leadership, but also the quality of students as a whole, for such accomplishments could not have been done without the cooperation of the full division.

The individuality of each division has been illustrated. While this uniqueness is part of the desired aim, the thought must never be lost that these divisions are united under one central organization. The goal is three-schools-in-one, united always under the title of Wakefield High School.

Activities

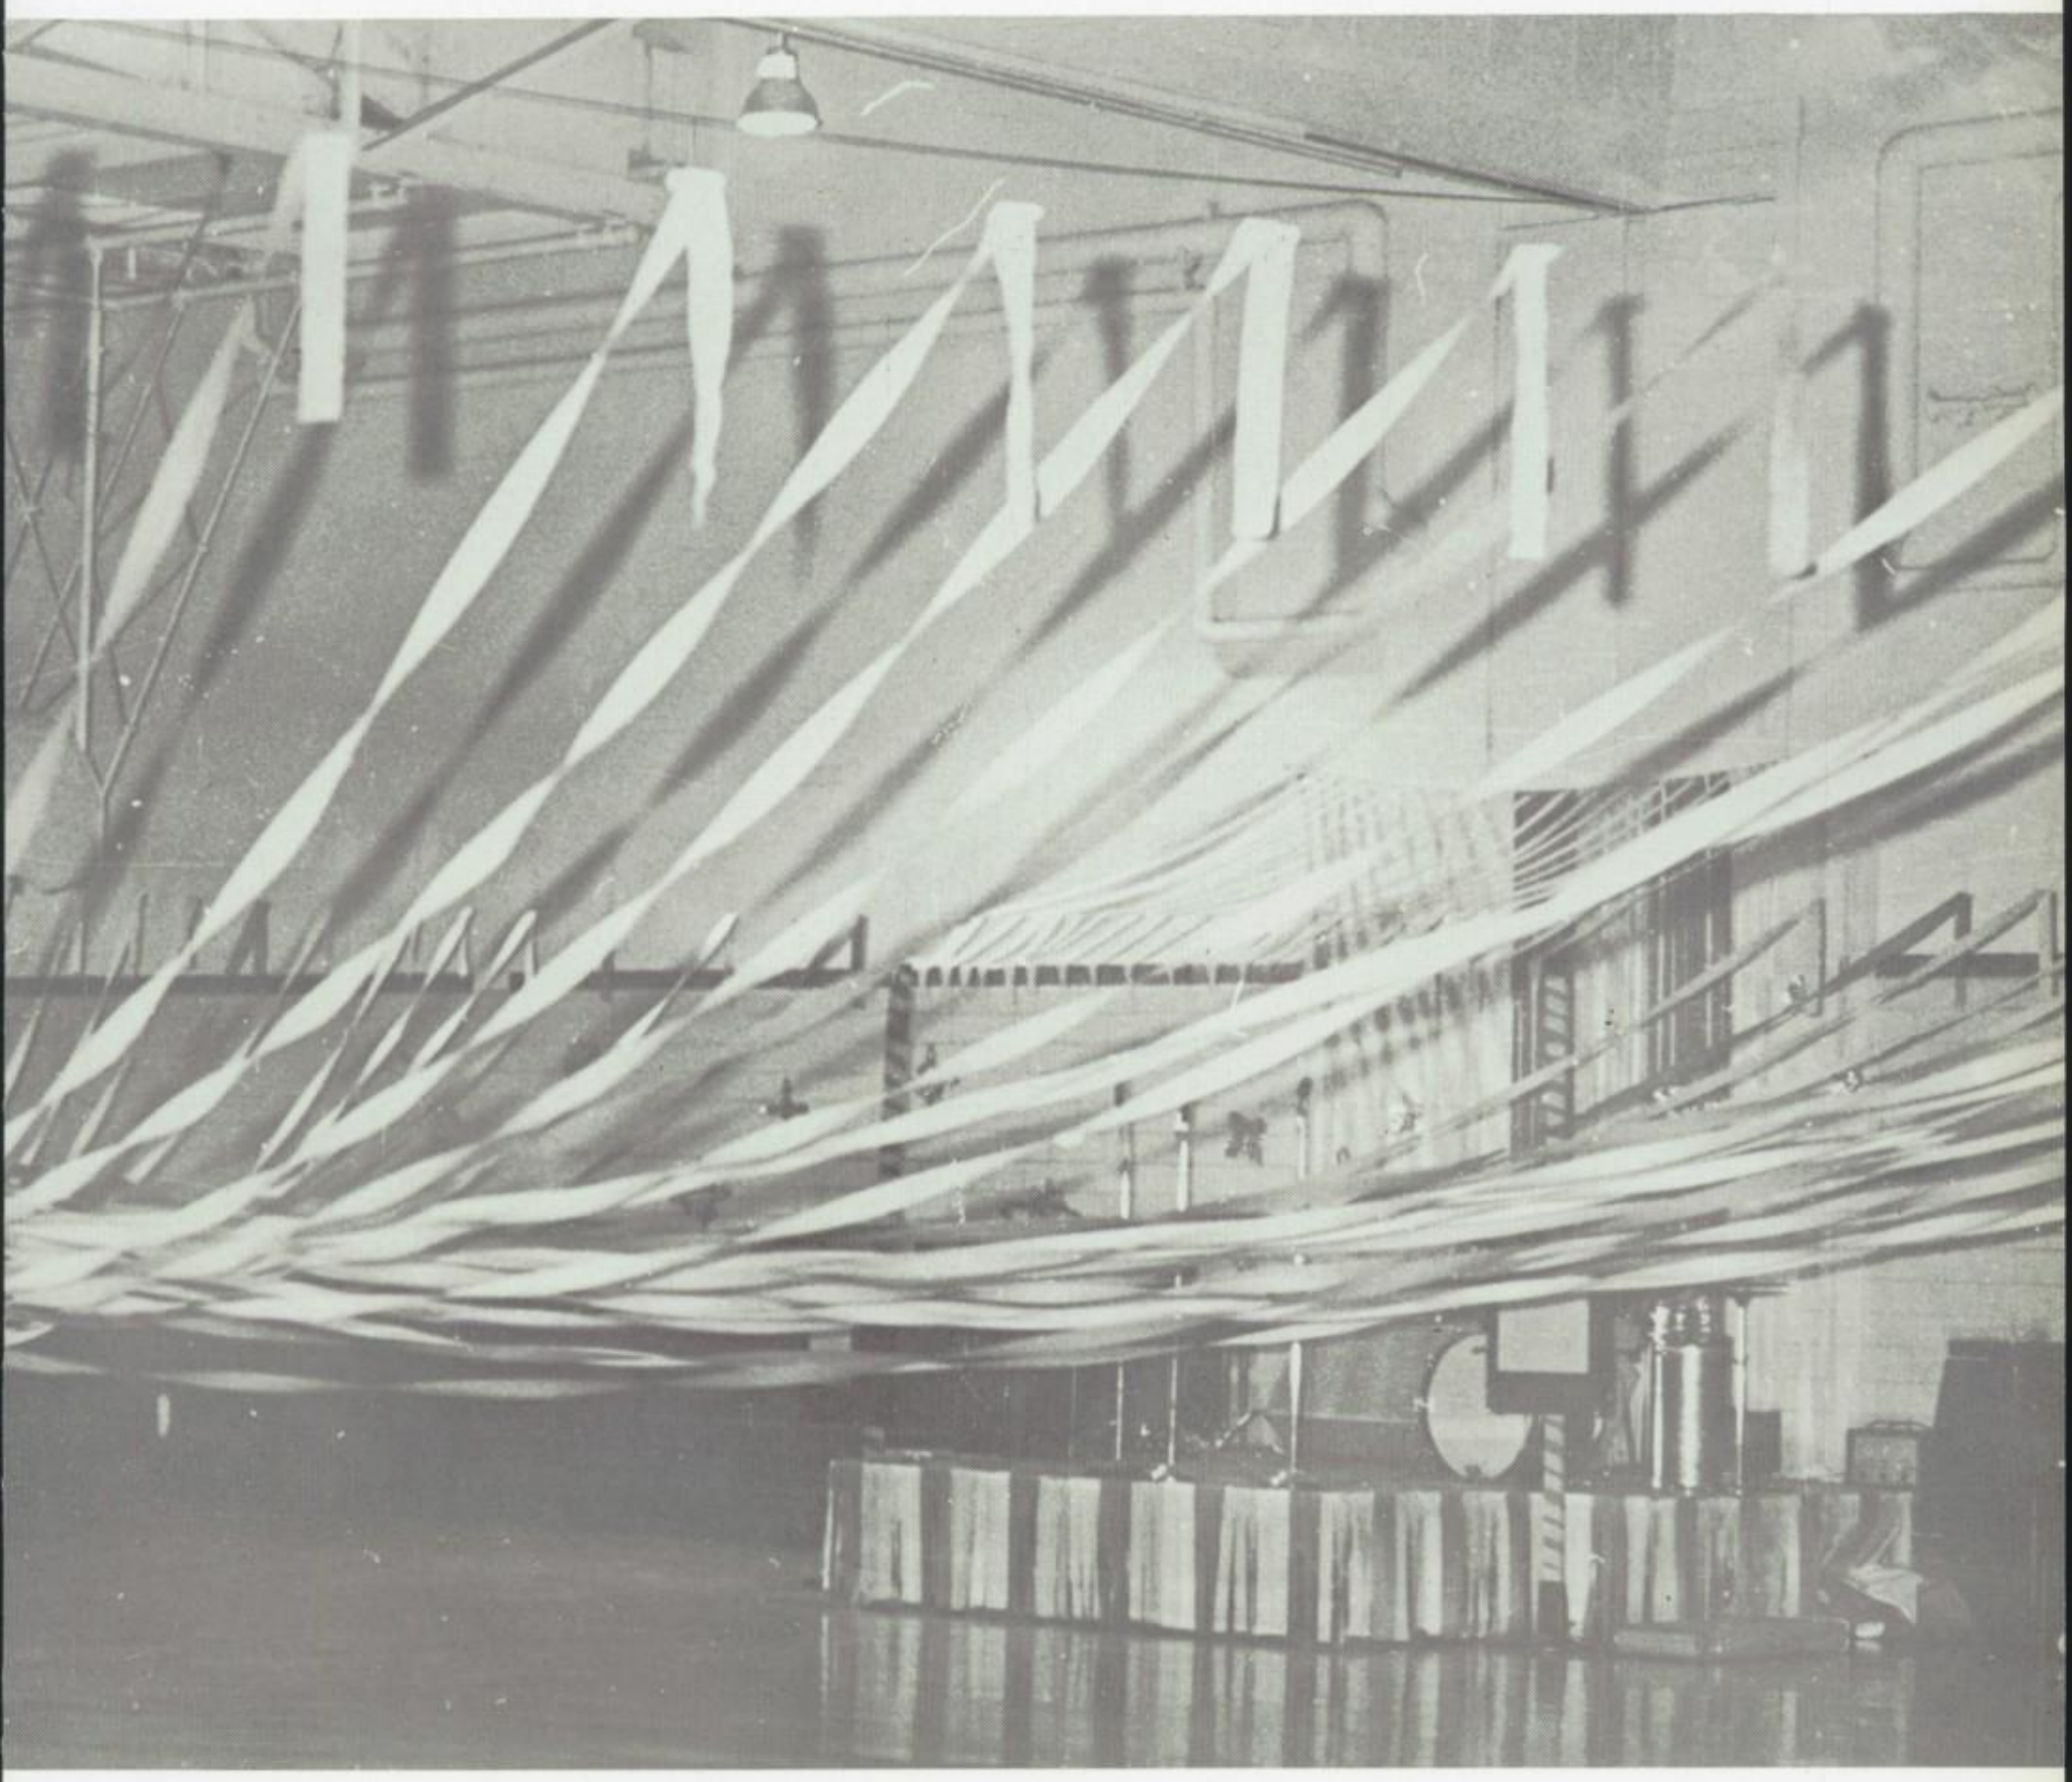
Editor

The role of an individual is important:
As a unique person;
As part of a group.
Because of the uniqueness of Warriors,
They must be given an opportunity
To display their talents;
Whether it be in drama,
Music, or talent shows.
Activities should furnish the chance
For students to express their worth
As an individual—
This is our goal.



President Glen Hewitt conducts business during an SCA meeting.

SCA Coordinates Division Governments

New obstacles to efficient student government confronted the Student Cooperative Association with the introduction of the division system. The first duty of the incoming assembly was to overhaul the SCA constitution and by-laws, keeping in mind the equal representation among the divisions. Next the assembly established itself as the sovereign government of the school to which the division governments must report their activities. This act laid the groundwork for an efficient, non-conflicting division of power and balanced organizational government.

This year the SCA has strived toward greater student participation in the activities which directly concern the student relationship with the school. To accomplish this goal, students other than those holding offices have been placed as committee members on responsible SCA committees. Such committees were organized to work on the sophomore orientation program and club week.

Students have been urged to express themselves freely by making suggestions in relation to the SCA. Advantage was taken of the SCA editorial bulletin board on which such exposition and criticisms could be expressed. The SCA worked toward a better school through activities in such areas as providing for the distribution of literature on the Bond Issue, and collecting money for the scholarship, landscape, and Heart Fund drives.

Pat Oglesby presents a 710-dollar check, proceeds from the Heart Fund Drive, to Dr. Gross, as Marnie Kennard, Mike Perry, and Miss George look on.

Senior representatives—Bob Spiker, Suzy Herndon, Ralph Rowsey, Pat Fox, Joan Sargent, Pete Papageorge, Sheldon Sutton, and Marnie Kennard.

The Assembly hoped to give benefits to the student body by involving itself in activities such as the Dress Code, the Spectators Code of Ethics, the Interfaith Council, the Hoffman-Boston Committee, the Freedoms Foundation Award, and smoking in the school. Benefits to the students were also provided in the forms of the want ad, calendar, and club bulletin boards.

Not confining their services and activities solely to scholastics, the SCA contributed much to the social events of Wakefield. Among the SCA-sponsored affairs were the annual Homecoming and Senior Alumni dances, and a hootenanny held in the spring. Added to the Assembly's activities were the sponsoring of the "Here Come the Warriors" talent show and the selling of licenses for Bermuda Day in order to raise funds for the American Field Service.

NHS Donates Books as Kennedy Memorial

Qualifications for membership in the National Honor Society vary among the three grade levels. The most stringent requirements are for sophomores who must maintain a 4.0 average; juniors must have a 3.5 average, and seniors must have 3.2 average. Each applicant, in addition to the grade-point average, must secure the recommendations of several teachers, covering three areas: citizenship, leadership, and character.

Service for the school seemed to dominate the Society's projects this year. The members provided a tutoring service to all students requesting help who were not tutored by other honor societies. Members also ushered at the Spring Orchestra Concert, compiled a list of questions for an M-division quiz assembly, and donated several historical books to the school library as a memorial to the late President Kennedy.

Besides a monthly business meeting, the Society held many program meetings featuring speakers or performances by different Wakefield groups. The programs varied from a speaker from the peace corps to a concert by the Wakefield Singers.

Mu Alpha Theta Conducts Math Tests

Mu Alpha Theta, Wakefield's Math Honor Society, is open to all students enrolled in a math course who maintain an "A" average. The one hundred members, who meet on Thursday each month, participate in a wide variety of activities.

During the 1963-64 school year, the members organized a field trip to the Fort Belvoir Research Center where they heard a lecture and saw slides on computers. Afterwards they were taken to the computer center where they had a chance to view these machines in action. The members also took part in Wakefield Day and organized math lectures which were open to the entire school. At their April meeting, the members featured Northern Virginia Science Fair entrants who lectured on their projects.

One of the major activities of Mu Alpha Theta is designing and administering geometry and algebra tests for a school-wide contest. In addition, they hold problem-solving contests for the members. Just this year the Society undertook publishing abstracts from the Westinghouse Science Talent Search.

Programs of the French Honor Society this year ranged from working crossword puzzles to enjoying dramatic presentations by two members of the French Department of Georgetown University. In addition, the members heard speakers from the magazine, Le Monde, and the American Field Service, and held an annual dinner for the installation of officers.

Besides having a 3.5 average in French, members must also maintain a 3.0 cumulative average. To be eligible under the new constitution, one must either be a junior or a senior in the 5th semester of French. Being fluent speakers of French, members are well qualified to help in the language and to tutor French.

Throughout the year, members were kept busy selling pastries after school and promoting the sale of picture post cards of Wakefield. With the money earned from these projects, the Society purchased films on the cultural facets of France for the French Department.

The induction of new members is discussed and planned during a meeting.

Highlighting the activities of this year's Latin Honor Society was a field trip to the National Gallery of Art. Accompanied by Latin IV students, the members viewed paintings and sculptures of various Greek and Latin gods and ended the field trip with a pizza dinner. Also included in this year's plans was a banquet attended by Latin students and their guest. The Modern Dance Club and the Wakefield String Quartet provided entertainment for the affair. In order to raise money for these activities, the Society held bake sales after school during the first semester.

An induction of new members was held in February. Featured were a candle-lighting ceremony and a guest speaker. Qualifications for entrance into the Society are an "A" average in Latin for first-year students and a "B" average for second, third, and fourth year-Latin students.

Spanish Honor Society Prepares Dinner

Activities of the Spanish Honor Society this year were highlighted by a joint meeting with the Societies from W-L and Yorktown. A group of talented Spanish dancers provided the entertainment for the meeting. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Diane Butturff, the members also viewed several Spanish films, including one on the Inca Indians, and attended lectures and programs concerning Spain. In December, the Society held a Spanish Christmas party featuring the foods and games of the country.

The Society planned a Spanish dinner held in February to which each member contributed a special dish from Spain. The main dish, "paella," proved to be a delicious mixture of chicken, rice, and other foods.

To become a member, a student must have taken at least three semesters of Spanish, and must have an over-all "B" average and a recommendation from their Spanish teacher. These requirements kept the club's membership to 15 members.

German Honor Society Tutors Students

"Arbeit mach das leben suss—work makes life sweet," is a maxim followed to the umlaut by the German Honor Society. Membership in this select group of German scholars is based on an "A" or "B" average in German II or III; this requirement keeps the enrollment to a workable 15. The requirement of an "A" average for the mid-term of first-year German limits the number of novice German speakers entering the society.

The object of the group is to broaden its members' knowledge of the culture and language of the mother country, Deutschland. To obtain this goal, the Society participates in German festivals and attends German movies and dinners in the District of Columbia. Lecturers periodically speak to the members on the customs of Germany. Also, members provide a tutoring service for those students who need help in their study of the language. The highlight of the Society's activities for this year was its Christmas party for which a German band played music.

Members of Wakefield's chapter of the international Quill and Scroll, journalism honor society, work on the school newspaper, literary magazine or yearbook. To enter the society, a student must be in the upper third of his class and must get a recommendation from his adviser.

Wakefield's chapter of Quill and Scroll takes the name of writer John Dos Passos, who was partially reared in Virginia and Washington, D.C. The Society is inactive, meeting only to initiate new members and elect officers, since most of its members spend hours after school working to meet deadlines.

This year the society held a special initiation dinner to promote a social note in Quill and Scroll as well as an honorary one.

If a student is seen wearing a baret and carrying an easel at the Rock Creek Zoo, he could be a member of the Art Honor Society on a sketching field trip. If this is true, then he has also participated in sketching excursions to Great Falls and to Dulles Airport.

The products of these trips were displayed at Dyer Brothers, an art supply store, the Arlington County Central Library, and various area art exhibits. Several of the better paintings were sold at Kanns, Woodward and Lothrop, and the Central Library, thus confirming the members' superior artistic ability. This outstanding talent forms the only requirement for entrance to the Society.

Throughout the year, the members also decorated bulletin boards and show cases with eye-catching displays. A favorite of almost everyone was the show case containing excellent charcoal sketches of the Beatles which the Society later sold, along with other Beatle portraits.

Thespians Present Christmas Play

"Thespian Night" started off the hectic year of the continually busy Thespians. At this meeting, a joint effort of W-L, Yorktown, and Wakefield Thespians, the members presented skits and exchanged ideas as they got acquainted. Members of Thespians aided in the production of the Fall and Spring Plays by acting, working as stage crews, or selling refreshments during intermission. In December, they produced a Christmas Play at St. Elizabeth's Hospital and D.C. Village.

In order to become a member of the Thespian Society, a student must earn a total of ten points by working on or off stage in Wakefield dramatic productions. Points may be attained through participation in three major productions or one major production and three one-act plays.

Guides Promote Public Relations

Under the direction of their founding sponsor, Mrs. Mary Maré, the 30 members of the Wakefield Guide Association have the opportunity to meet visitors and acquaint them with our school and its facilities. Wakefield, representing a typical large American high school, was the host to foreign visitors twice this year. Occasionally speaking to these visitors from the Washington International Center in their native language, the guides gave them a morning tour of the school and presented them with a booklet explaining life at Wakefield.

Besides providing tours for foreign visitors, the Guides conducted tours of the building and explained Wakefield's educational program to student teachers and incoming sophomores. This year this service was also provided for the parents of the Hoffman-Boston students who will be entering Wakefield next September. As an added service to the school, the Guides ushered at the Baccalaureate and Commencement ceremonies.

The Warriors Come Again

Song and dance underscored the theme, "variety is the spice of life," of this year's student talent show, "Here Come The Warriors." Student director Liza Taylor and faculty coordinator, Mr. Robert Stevens, organized the singing portion of the show into a Hootenanny. Acts included the Partymakers, the Countrymen, the Wakefield Singers; and even a feminine take-off of the Beatles sang folk songs while the Girls' Drill Team acted as the "stage" audience.

Dancing ranged from modern dance, performed by Modern Dance Club, to the old "soft shoe" done by Patti Dirzulaitis and Patricia Herrell. A tap dance by Donna Bisbee and a jazz performance by Terre Latsios balanced the program.

Carrying out its theme of variety, the show boasted of a gymnastics act, a magic show as well as skits and pantomimes. Kappa, Delta, Psi, and Eta Service Clubs aided in the production of "Here Come the Warriors," which gave its proceeds to the American Field Service Program.

Pendulum Staff Holds Contest

Published annually, The Pendulum, Wakefield's literary-art magazine, is composed entirely of contributions from the student body. It includes all types of original writing such as poetry, book reviews, essays, short stories, and creative prose, as well as art work selected from the art classes. During the winter, a contest held by the staff offered prizes of five and ten dollars for winning literary works.

The Pendulum staff consists of three sub-staffs: the literary, art, and business staffs. Each of these staffs works independently, but keeps in close contact with the others. The literary staff selects, revises, and prepares for publication the works submitted. Planning and illustrating the magazine layout is the job of the art staff. The business staff handles the sale of the magazine.

The Pendulum provides an outlet for creative self-expression and honors outstanding student achievement by publication.

Signal Struggles to Meet Deadlines

Glue pots and T-squares and lots of red pencils–that is what the Wakefield Signal is made of.

Weeks before publication date, the 18 members of the staff scout for possible news items and rummage through ideas for feature stories. During a brief reporters' meeting, editors grapple over what reporter will have which story and at what absolutely final date the copy must be turned in. Friday afternoon there is a rush to send out pictures and the two inside pages—feature and editorial—to the Northern Virginia Sun, Printer. Monday, proofs are returned and page editors scurry between their jobs of proofreading, headline making, and layout arranging.

On Wednesday the entire staff bustles to meet the final deadline date. Typists rush final copy as the staff passes glue pots to paste down layouts. Editor-in-chief Susie Bear scrutinizes copy to see if "In the Warriors Wake," a column that ties bits of school news and history together, has final approval. A headline needs to be rewritten for the column by Chris Kerr, who toured Russia during the summer. The "Dear Miss Editor" Column, a variation of the standard "Letters to the Editor," needs to be rearranged. Ads must be double checked and sports and news page layouts must be approved. Thursday, the printed papers are returned and must be distributed to teachers boxes for the Friday publication date.

The constant pressure of publication is relieved when hard-working staff members and Mrs. Elizabeth Jacks attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in New York City. Convention delegates spend days at Columbia University listening to lectures on skills and mechanics of newspapers, but use their nights to sightsee and visit in New York. A luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria climaxes their trip.

Meanwhile, back at the newspaper, novice staff members ransack exchange papers and draw cartoons to serve their apprenticeship in journalism on the school newspaper.

Mrs. Jacks, the sponsor, discusses plans for the next Signal with the Editor-in-chief.

THE SIGNAL, a newspaper printed 17 times yearly, written by students at Wakefield High School, 4901 South Chesterfield Road, Arlington 6, Va. Printed by the Northern Virginia SUN. A member of the International Quill and Scroll and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

When the indoor track team has stopped practicing and custodians have put away their last mop, staff members of the STARSTONE are still at work in Room 231.

Lead by sponsor Gerald Groves, who possesses the sympathy of Simon Legree and the permissiveness of Big Brother, STARSTONE members aim to raise the level of the yearbook to mediocrity.

Despite the disappearance of grease pencils, cropping wheels, staplers, and rulers, the 16 staff members manage to publish a yearbook of over 300 pages. A typical day in the STARSTONE room would be exhaustive for any person not trained for Army Special Service or Peace Corps jobs.

Fifth period's "confusion confounded by chaos" quiets down to a dull roar after school. Usually only staff faithfuls stay to identify and crop pictures and labor to meet the deadline.

Actually a publication is not planned to run so smoothly but STARSTONE is blessed. In June, the photography editor, editor-in-chief, and sponsor fly to Nashville, Tennessee, to plan the new yearbook's cover and layout with Benson Printing Company. Then in the fall six staff members and the sponsor attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention where organization and advanced planning are always stressed. Despite this trip, the STARSTONE room needs a large supply of aspirin and "compoz."

Bonnie Ellis, activities editor, Patricia Herrell, business manager, and Pam Stear, club editor, read and relax on the trip to the yearbook conference in New York City.

Starstone 1964

The more refined and organized division of STARSTONE is the Business staff which meets during another class period. Headed by Mrs. Sullivan, business sponsor, and Patricia Herrell, business editor, this staff is responsible for selling yearbooks, soliciting ads, and keeping record of all incoming and outgoing cash. First period's quiet efficiency tries to balance fifth period's frantic scramble.

There is one consolation for staff members working on the yearbook. Either they learn to cope with impossible pressures and exhaustive work or they look forward to a nice rest in an institution. As Mr. Groves often warns, "All I have to offer you is blood and sweat —you'll cry tomorrow."

Wakefield's varsity singers number 102 juniors and seniors in the choir. By daily participation, they learn to recognize and appreciate more advanced choral works. The choir's many accomplishments include Shubert's "Mass in G," Handel's "Messiah," both with orchestral accompaniment, and modern contemporary works by Donne and Heiden.

Assemblies this year are on a divisional basis; therefore, the only chance some students have to see the choir is in the annual Christmas, Pops, and Spring Concerts.

Mixed Chorus Performs in Festival Chorus

A Mixed Chorus of 55 members is the beginning group of singers at Wakefield. Approximately one-half of these members have had previous choral experience, usually in junior high school or in church choirs. Since mixed chorus is primarily a learning group, it is one of the few musical activities that does not require an audition. Most chorus members are later "promoted" to the Choir, Girls Chorus, or Wakefield Singers.

By joining with the other choral groups, the mixed chorus becomes a part of the Festival Chorus, which performs at special school assemblies and concerts.

Girls' Chorus Learns Through Experience

Miss Whittaker plays the introduction to a song as the members of the girls' chorus prepare to sing.

Wakefield's Girls' Chorus, led by Miss Donna Whittaker, is composed of forty-five girls who generally have had no previous musical training.

Providing a cultural outlet, the Girls' Chorus is a means of self-expression for the student. The main objective of the Chorus is to aid the musically inclined student to develop his voice techniques. This development is accomplished by individual attention to the student's needs.

During the year, the girls perform at school assemblies, frequently working with the other choral groups. The Chorus continues to provide entertainment for the student body and the community.

Wakefield Singers Exhibit Talent

Musical ability and interest are the common bonds of Wakefield Singers, whose performances are known throughout the Metropolitan Area. Led by Miss Donna Whittaker, the twenty-eight singers opened the National Botanical Gardens for their Christmas show this year and sang at the National Honor Society and Superintendent Reid's Christmas Tea.

Proficiency in the interpretation and reading of choral works is a necessity for the Singers. These advanced singers volunteer much of their time to practice. They perform before organizations when a group as large as the choir is impractical.

Orchestra Participates in Music Festival

Under the direction of Mr. Harvey Krasney, the Wakefield Orchestra has grown to include 72 members this year. It also boasts 47 strings, the largest string section it has ever had. Highlights of the orchestra's performances were the annual Spring Concert, school assemblies, concerts at neighboring junior high schools, the Virginia Association of School Boards, and the District Festival. One of the judges at the Festival, Mr. John Farancinni, said, "The Wakefield High School Orchestra is among the top five school orchestras in the nation."

One of the main objectives of the orchestra is to offer a variety of music appealing to all tastes, which at the same time will be educationally and artistically stimulating. Some of the former members of the Wakefield Orchestra are now performing in fine symphony orchestras throughout the country. Many of the present students are equally honored for they have been offered scholarships to top schools in the nation.

Band Stresses High Standards

Boasting a membership of eighty, the Wakefield Concert Band has upheld Wakefield's reputation for excellence in the field of music. The group has performed for a wide range of functions, including Wakefield assemblies, programs at neighboring Junior High Schools, P.T.A. meetings, and a variety of civic projects. For their performances at the Northern Virginia District Festival, they have continually earned "superior" and "excellent" ratings. Ten students represented Wakefield at the All-State Band Clinic this year.

The Band acquaints its members with a wide variety of styles of music while emphasizing a high standard of musical performance. By actively participating in the band activities, the students gained not only the experience of discipline necessary to group performance, but also a greater appreciation of music which they may use and enjoy throughout their later years.

A training organization in which technical fundamentals of playing are carefully considered, the Reserve Band places the emphasis on individual achievement as well as group playing.

Marching Band Competes in Parades

Sixty volunteer members from the concert and reserve bands compose the Marching Band. The band has evolved over the years from a single group of dedicated musicians into Wakefield roving minstrels.

Through participation at football games and at school pep rallies, the band has become as much of a tradition of the game as popcorn and hot dogs. Playing in such festivities as the George Washington Day Parade, Bethesda Christmas Parade, Grand Feature Parade, and the annual Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia, the Marching Band has established for itself a place in community life.

Stephanie Wynne Homecoming Queen

Homecoming Queen Stephanie Wynne and football co-captain Bob Landry lead off the first dance after her crowning.

Despite heavy rains, Wakefield Warriors cheered Stephanie Wynne, Homecoming Queen for 1963, at the Wakefield-Yorktown game on November 1. Ralph Fletcher, Secretary of Athletics, escorted her onto the football field during half-time where she was presented with a bouquet of white mums. Eleventh-grade attendant Cricket Jarrett, escorted by Glen Hewitt, and tenth-grade attendant, Kristie Martin, escorted by Jerry Brown, also received mum bouquets.

Stephanie and her attendants reigned over the Homecoming dance held on November 16. Varsity football co-captains Bob Landry and Bob Newkirk and junior varsity captain Larry Funkhouser highlighted the evening by giving the girls football necklaces.

The Homecoming Queen and her attendants are selected by the student body from a group of four girls from each grade who are nominated by the football team. The queen is then chosen by vote of the student body during the week before the Homecoming game.

Wobbly Warriors Undefeated

Wakefield's Wobbly Warriors showed their superiority this year by delighting the Yorktown and W-L teams with their amazing skills and riotous actions, and compiling an undefeated season of two games. Sparking the Wobbly Warriors was Mr. Daniels, a student teacher who led the scoring throughout the game. Other faculty members who contributed to the game were Mr. Reynolds, Mr. R. Johnson, Mr. Ponis, Mr. Swatt, Mr. Stein, Mr. Kunze, Mr. McCullock, Mr. Edmondson, Mr. Winkler, and Mr. Oliver. The oddity of the players' garb added to the fun of the frolic.

Drill Team Performs at Basketball Games

During half-time at Wakefield's football and basketball games, the 42-member Drill Team entertained the spectators. In previous years the Drill Team performed only at the football games and the W-L Pep Rally; however, this year the girls made their own green and white Indian costumes and drilled at the home basketball games as well. The Drill Team added new activities to their agenda by participating in the Christmas Parade in Bethesda, Maryland, and the George Washington Birthday Celebration Parade held in Alexandria, Virginia.

Selected in the spring of 1963, the members of the 1963-64 Drill Team made use of the summer vacation for practicing. The girls were judged on the basis of their ability to march, pivot, and "about face." Thursday nights and Saturday and Sunday afternoons assured the Drill Team of the polish necessary for such exacting work.

Victory Dance Opens Social Season

From turkeys to spider webs, varied decorations and themes sparked the Wakefield 1963-64 social season. The Keyette Victory Dance, held in celebration for our first home football game opened the school year. The Partymakers, a combo of Wakefield boys, added to the enthusiasm of the crowd after Wakefield's first win. Next on the agenda was Zeta's Gorp, highlighted by the crowning of Paul Bouchard as Ugly Man." During the week preceding the Gorp, students chose the "Ugly Man" by contributing money to support their favorite candidate, then this money was donated to the Scholarship Fund. In November, Stephanie Wynne reigned over the Homecoming Dance as this year's queen. A large totem pole in the middle of the gym augmented the Warrior theme of this dance.

The music of Tom Colwell and the Country Men entertained students during the intermission of the Turkey Trot held by Eta Service Club. Returning Alumni reminisced at the Senior Alumni Dance, the highlight of Wakefield's Christmas Season. The New Year Social

A new and unusual theme was carried out at "The Web" sponsored by Beta Service Club. The gym was transformed into a mystical beatnick hideaway by a giant spider and web. In the spring Optimi's Annual Open Season Dance preceded the division dances. Featuring an underwater theme, the Senior Prom highlighted an unforgettable social season.

Students Visit Teahouse

The auditorium of Wakefield more resembled a village in Okinawa than a school assembly room on the nights of April 2 and 3. This magical transformation was effected by the crew of the Spring Play, Teahouse of the August Moon. The Art II classes of Mr. Harold Symes, working with a native of the Orient, Wakefield student Chi Ahn, designed and constructed the realistic sets.

The theme of this comical satire was the life of the Army occupational forces in post-war Okinawa. Jerry Khatcheressian, as the interpreter, Sakini, and Tommy Burns, as Captain Fisby, added wit to the play. Swaim White had the difficult task of learning an all-Japanese part for her performance in the female lead as Lotus Blossom. Roger Coles, Mike Fitzpatrick, and Buzz Christianson played three of the Army officers: Col. Wainwright III, Sergeant Gregovich, and Capt. McLean. Other Warriors portraying the townspeople of Tobiki Village completed the cast.

Mrs. Mora Shell directed the play, adapted by John Patrick from the Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Vern Sneider. The cast, crew, director, and assistant directors, Gayle Moore and Mary Lou Cone, spent many arduous hours producing these performances.

You Can't Take It With You, The Pulitzer Prize winning play by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, was presented at Wakefield on December 5 and 7. The play, a hilarious, absurb chain of events, is set in New York City in the 1930's. Mrs. Leah Gindoff directed the cast including Tommy Burns as Tony Kirby and Maggie Merold as Alice Sycamore, a typical trouble-ridden young couple in love. Phil Spiller and Jerry Khatchers-sian in the roles of Paul Sycamore and Mr. De Pinna, portrayed a scatter-brained pair of inventors. Pam Stansberry as Essie delighted the audience with her ballet and calisthenics. Jim Trump as Essie's awkward husband, Ed, and Katie Kerr, playing the disorganized Mrs. Sycamore, completed the zany cast.

Despite having weathered several mishaps, including a two-week postponement because of President Kennedy's death, the play garnered enthusiastic support.

Wakefield Hosts

Authors can write about the customs and people of a country, and artists can paint the beauty of a land, but really to understand a foreign country you must learn through experience. The American Field Service programs offer this opportunity to American students as well as students of foreign countries. This year Wakefield had the privilege of participating in several of the AFS programs.

Josyane Foreye, of Belgium, spent the 1963-64 school year observing the students at Wakefield and participating in their activities. Living with Sally Godfrey and her family proved to be quite an experience for Josyane. With her family in Belgium she was an only child; with her American family she is one of seven children. Josyane was active in the German Honor Society and the Wakefield Guides and became quite popular with the Wakefield students during her stay in America.

Jorg Schmidtke came to Wakefield as a participant in the AFS program from his home in Germany. During his stay in Arlington, Jorg lived with Bob Webb and his family. Jorg found that attending a co-ed school was a great improvement over the all-boy school he attended in Germany.

Another of the AFS programs, the summer abroad, attracted two Wakefield students, Joan Sargent and Meg Pherson. Joan spent the summer before her senior year in Finland. Her Finnish family, who gave her a tour of the country during her visit, lived above classrooms in a boys' industrial college. Meg, a finalist in the

With only a few weeks notice, Wakefield student Nancy Loy left in early February to spend a year in Bauru, Brazil, as a foreign exchange student. Her first few weeks in Brazil were spent learning Portuguese so that she could converse with her Brazilian family, Sr. and Sra. Rosenwald Godoy and their two children, Maria Christina, 16, and Fausto, 18.

AFS participants are usually quite active in school activities, which is evidenced by this picture. Meg Pherson poses beside one of the posters used in her campaign for an SCA office.

Key Club Welcomes Exchange Student

Wakefield's Key Club, which stresses excellence of character and scholarship, is a member of the Key Club International and is under the sponsorship of the local Kiwanis Club. This year the Key Club donated a flag to the school and contributed their services at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Falls Church. The club also participated in the District Key Club Basketball Tournament. Representatives from the club attended the District and the International Conventions.

The Club has held fund raising projects such as selling peanuts and sponsoring a "Hootenanny." Key Club was honored this year to have as one of its members Jorg Schmidtke, a foreign exchange student from Germany.

This year the Wakefield Photography Club worked to bring increased understanding about the many and varied phases of photography to its many inquisitive members. Under the leadership of Mr. Mort Broffman, the members learned not only the technical, but also the asthetic, aspects of this complicated field.

Photography Club president Travis Hall worked also with Wakefield's yearbook, STARSTONE, as the Photography Editor, while Barbara Pilson, the club secretary, was the photographer on the paper, Signal.

During the meetings, which were held in the STARSTONE darkroom, members processed photographs and analyzed their mistakes. Many hours of hard work and toil went into the perfection of these pictures. Wakefield's photographers succeeded in joining fun with profit in learning by working during the year.

Keyettes Sponsor Contemporary Cards

Under the guidance of Miss Rosanne Geferoff and the Arlington Kiwanis Club, Wakefield Keyettes added another prosperous year to their fine reputation. In light of the stiff requirements for membership, this organization is primarily composed of girls who are "hard workers."

The Keyettes "kicked off" the year with a Victory Dance after the first home football game. Next, the Keyette Book Fair offered a wide variety of paperbacked books to the student body. The busy girls launched into plans for their Grand Prize-winning Christmas Basket, a miniature church loaded with food for the needy.

Some of the club's annual projects, including the spaghetti dinner for the Merit-Finalists and the yearly fashion show sponsored by Junior Sophisticates, have become traditional. Several members of the club model in the show, which gives some good ideas to fashion-minded girls for the upcoming prom and springtime.

In January, the Keyettes honored the secretarial staff by presenting each secretary with a corsage and by holding a tea for them after school.

Adding to their list of activities, the members sold pizza first semester, to finance visits to Junior Village and contributions to the Cerebral Palsy drive.

Rifle Club Promotes Safety with Fire Arms

The Wakefield Rifle Club, now in its sixth year of operation, has become one of Wakefield's largest clubs, involving more than seventy members. Club membership had to be divided into two groups in order to give each member a chance at weekly shooting. When members of the feminine sex were permitted to join the club this year, the girls began to hope for an all-girl team.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Powell and Mr. Sasscer, the Rifle Club aims to teach interested student the importance of safety in dealing with firearms, as well as to promote interest in improving marksmanship. Members competed among themselves for "Higher Shooter" medals and entered matches with other area high schools whenever the opportunity was available.

From the large group of shooters, certain select marksmen were chosen for the Varsity Rifle team. This varsity team met with the rest of the club members at Fort Myer Rifle Range where the District Civilian Marksmanship Association supplied funds and ammunition for them.

The Gymnastics Club Develops Co-Ordination

The Gymnastics Club was created for the physical benefit and enjoyment of its members. Boys and girls participating in gymnastics exercise on the trampoline, tumbling mats, vaulting box, and side-horse. Through the development of co-ordination and skill, the members gained self-confidence while helping each other. The club practiced once a week in the Wakefield gym under the supervision and coaching of Mr. John Ponis. Club members frequently visited Yorktown on Monday nights and participated in workouts under the direction of Coach Meeks. Aside from its regular activities, the club presented an addition to the half-time shows during football games.

Red Cross Gives Time to Others

Dedicated girls of the Red Cross Club, established last year, have learned the value of helping others. With the supervision of Mrs. Almy, the girls have worked in many hospitals, clinics, and institutions.

In an attempt to promote more interest in their club, the girls held an enrollment drive in November. After enlarging the club, members worked filling festive stockings for Saint Elizabeth's Hospital and presented entertainment for the Methodist Hermitage in Alexandria.

For other hospitals in the area, numerous tray favors were made to brighten the meals of the patients. As a standing projects, the girls try to do all they can for the children at Junior Village. The club gave a party to entertain the children and visited them regularly.

The girls of the Red Cross Club have given their time to others but have received satisfaction from being useful.

Chemical Society Donates Equipment

Science students interested in chemistry organized the Chemical Society at Wakefield. The main purposes of this group are to increase knowledge of chemistry and to give practical experience to its members. Besides spreading interest in chemistry, the Society also served the school by donating a piece of electrolysis equipment to the Science Department. The society subscribes to Science and Mathematic Weekly. This magazine, and other science pamphlets and books, are supplied to the science teachers.

Members have a standing project of repairing laboratory aprons used by the students. Other efforts go into making molecular models which show the atomic structure of various compounds. Again this year, the NASA "Spacemobile" team visited Wakefield at the invitation of the society. Films and experiments, together with these special projects, form an important part of the activities of the Chemical Society.

Biology Clubs Learns Cytological Techniques

One of the many club programs offered to students at Wakefield is the Biology Club. The sponsorship of Mrs. Joan Urban guided the members in their research into the biological sciences and strengthened as well their knowledge of specific skills. Two films were shown at club meetings to supplement knowledge and stimulate curiosity. One was Hemo the Magnificent, a classic film about the circulatory system, and the other film was Doom City, a film put out by the American Cancer Association dealing with deadly facts about cancer.

Current science topics were often discussed at meetings. Other times members left school for field trips to biological institutions where club members observed practical application of technical information. During one trip to Vienna Biological Supply Company, the club watched preparation of slides and plastic mounts. And, what was probably the most enlightening topic of the year, members learned about the procedure of embalming animals.

Rocket Society Photographs Eclipse

Wakefield's nationally recognized Rocket Society, under the guidance of Mr. Wynn, has promoted interest in three major fields: astronomy, electronics, and rocketry.

The club worked together to give demonstrations on various experiments in physics during club week. On Wakefield Day individual members ended the year by showing their own equipment to spectators.

The astronomy division, interested in planetary observation, photographed the solar eclipse in July, 1963, as well as the lunar eclipse in December, 1963. With their famed 10-inch telescope, the division observed a meteor shower and a planet.

The electronics division has been busy working on their ham radio. The boys added a voice communication with other "hams" as far apart as Newfoundland and Denver, Colorado.

The rocketry division is still participating in rocket firings at camp G. C. Pickett in Virginia. At this camp, the boys acquire additional information about rocket fuels and rocket design.

FTA Presents Opportunities in Education

The Future Teachers of America Club was organized in 1960 to enable "future" teachers to become acquainted with their desired vocation. The goal of the FTA is to secure and present accurate information about the development, responsibilities, opportunities, and advantages in the field of education. The colors of the club are black, white, and red; the emblem is a torch, symbolizing the light of knowledge.

Panel discussions with teachers and Wakefield's foreign exchange students add variety to the club's programs. FTA members also participate in a teacher-assistant program at Claremont Elementary School to gain experience for their future career.

Wakefield Bridge Society Promotes Skill

The Wakefield Bridge Society, an informal group of upper and underclassmen, was founded in the fall of 1963. The main purposes of the organization are to promote the popularity of bridge and to improve the technical skills of the members. Both rubber and duplicate matches are played, using either the Goren system or a newer system, such as Schenken or Roman, and partnerships have been formed in the club for greater efficiency in playing. Meetings are held each Tuesday and Sunday at homes of members.

One of the highlights of the year was a 67-0 victory by the Bridge Society against a team from Falls Church High School. In addition, the society has held both rubber and duplicate matches among its members.

FHA Makes Nursery Smocks

Future Homemakers of America, a national organization with a chapter at Wakefield for eleven years, enjoyed another active year. Some of its first service projects of the year included contributing to Care and to the Heart Fund and sending a girl to the National Convention of the FHA. Later the club made smocks for Wakefield's nursery and bought a camera for the Home Economics Department. This year the FHA sold doughnuts before school in the lobbies to raise money for its projects.

Weekly programs included many speakers and demonstrations on numerous subjects ranging from "how to make hats and decorate cakes," to "how to select china and silverware." Also, the future homemakers took a trip to VEPCO and a "trip around the world" via travel agent. Among the many social events of the club were a progressive dinner, a talent show, and a theater party. Combining fun with work, the girls succeeded in compiling a memorable year.

A few of the officers of FHA work on the nursery smocks which the club made. Present are Janet Johnson, President, seated, with Mrs. Nagel, Sponsor and Elaine Brown, Historian-Publicity, looking on.

"Le Circle Francais"

The goal of Le Circle Francais is to improve the understanding of French culture amongst its members. This year, in pursuit of its goal, under the supervision of the sponsor, Miss Klein, and President Nancy Brewer, the club dined at a French restaurant, Chez Odette.

The members also enjoyed viewing slides and films of French life and culture. The club visited the National Gallery of Art where they participated in a guided tour through the French Galleries. By following the evolution of the artists of France through the periods represented at the Gallery, the club gained an insight into the complexity of French culture. The French Club has spent a rewarding year in acquiring knowledge of France.

"El Circulo Espanol" Adds Spice to Study

"El Circulo Espanol" carried out its aim to promote cultral interest in the Spanish language by giving members the opportunity to hear two Latin-America speakers, one from Cuba and the other from Chile. Members also saw many films, slides, and movies on the more colorful aspects of the Spanish atmosphere. The club visited the Pan-American Union and various embassies, learning more of the Spanish culture and governments.

Sampling exotic foods at such Spanish restaurants as La Fonda added to members' understanding, as did an observation of José Greco and other flamenco dancers. The Spanish Club has served as a "spicy" supplement to the regular academic course.

Debate Club Discusses Social Security

"Resolved: That Social Security benefits should be extended to include complete medical care."

This challenging subject became the center of debaters' attention early in the school year and was contested among the members of the Northern Virginia Debate League.

After a successful season in '62-'63, a nucleus of experienced debaters organized for their new season. With an enthusiastic turnout of some forty candidates, the practice season got under way, resulting in the final selection of sixteen debaters to represent Wakefield.

Through participation in the league contests, such as the George Washington University Discussion Conference and Debate Tournament, and the American University Forensic Contest, Wakefield debaters acquired skill and experience in the field of debate.

Monogram Club Admits Cheerleaders

The Monogram Club, composed of boys who have lettered in varsity sports, for the first time asked the varsity cheerleaders to join their organization.

The club proved its service to the school by painting the "pep section" of the football bleachers white. This pep section promoted school spirit as did the club's teepee float for the W-L pep rally.

The members of the club also toured the junior high schools of the area, Gunston, Thomas Jefferson, and Kenmore, to encourage boys to go out for sports at Wakefield. The club sponsors a scholarship fund as a permanent project.

After the decision to use monitors in the halls during lunch period, members of the Monogram club devoted their time to helping the administration with the enforcement of the new program.

Dance Club Sells Campus Nities

Wakefield's Modern Dance Club, associated with the Girls' Athletic Association, began its busy year with the sale of Campus Nities. These colorful red nities were the rage of the year, and the profit from the sale contributed a large sum to the club's treasury.

Under the direction of Mrs. Wilma Dando, the club performed at the dance in March sponsored by Beta Service Club.

The group provides an outlet for girls who wish to express their feelings and ideas through interpretive dancing. Club members are given the opportunity to practice dancing after school and to perform at various times during the year. Although interpretive dancing is the primary interest of the club, members have an opportunity to do ballroom and jazz numbers as well.

The Wakefield Dance Club has accomplished its aims of recreational activity and promotion of active interest in expressive dancing and helped members to improve their skill.

D. O. Club Convention Highlights Year

The Diversified Occupations Club is a nationally sponsored organization composed of the members of the Industrial Cooperative Training Program. The club provides recreation and responsible appreciation of occupations. By training in citizenship and stressing academic development, the club also helps to develop well-rounded employees.

During the months of February and March, Wakefield members participated in the District and State Conventions of the D.O. Clubs. To finish the year the club sponsored a booth on Wakefield Day and held the annual Employer-Employee Banquet.

Through its ideals and activities the D.O. Club maintains high standards of workmanship, scholarship, and citizenship.

Rescue Club Works with Red Cross

Wakefield Rescue Club has for the first time opened its membership to girls. These girls worked with the male members after receiving training in caring for the injured.

Organized in October, 1956, Rescue Club has expanded its services to include first aid, athletic events, fire and civil defense drills, and the annual first-aid contest with Washington-Lee on Wakefield Day.

During 1963-64 the squad trained with the Arlington County Firemen, and team with the Red Cross to give a first-aid demonstration.

Standing by to treat sick and injured people, the Wakefield Rescue Club worked with the Red Cross in Washington during the weekend that the late John F. Kennedy lay in state at the Capitol.

Swim Club Holds Five League Records

The Wakefield Swimming and Diving Club was organized for the purpose of encouraging aquatic sports as a basis of physical fitness. The club began its Tuesday and Saturday swimming practices and Thursday diving seasons late in November and continued through the end of May.

The competitive season officially began on January 26, when the club met a strong Yorktown team in the first meet of the Northern Virginia Inter-Scholastic Swimming League. In the following weeks, the club competed with teams from Woodson, Fairfax, Marshall, W-L, and Stuart. This intra-high school competition was culminated by an All-Star Meet at the Northern Virginia Aquatic Club, where Olympic coach Stan Tinkham surveyed the progress his team had made.

In addition to their League meets, the boys' team competed against Georgetown Prep and returned victorious in the diving competition. Also representatives of the club traveled to the South-Eastern Interscholastic Invitational Swimming and Diving Championships at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, and to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, for another school meet.

At present, Wakefield swimmers hold five league records, including a highly prized girls' relay mark.

Club Council Result of Court Ruling

The Service Club Council serves as a co-ordinating body of the numerous service clubs at Wakefield. These clubs were formerly sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association and were known as Tri-Hi-Y's and Hi-Y's. This year, however, in compliance with the Supreme Court ruling on religion in public schools, club sponsorship has been transferred from the YMCA to the school. Former clubs have been reorganized as "Service Clubs."

Each club is allotted one representative on the Council; the representative's responsibilities include setting the standards, formulating policies, and planning joint activities within the clubs.

This year the clubs all participated in the annual Christmas Basket Contest and the Service Club Sing. The Council also sponsored a drive for books for the Peace Corps. Each club, under the direction of the Council, planned a variety of activities during the year. The purpose of each Service Club is not only to do service to the community and the school, but also to "strengthen the society through the individual."

Alpha Decorates Christmas Tree

Alpha Service Club was formed this year from former members of Pi Tri-Hi-Y. The Pepsi-Cola Company presented Alpha with a check in return for bottle caps members had collected. The club then turned this check over to the Leukemia Fund to help fight the fatal disease.

During Christmas, Alpha won a second-place award for attractiveness and two honorable-mention awards for their Christmas basket. They also helped "deck the halls" of Wakefield with a decorated Christmas tree in the cafeteria lobby.

As standing projects, Alpha kept its bulletin board decorated with ideas for school spirit, and publicized sports events by posters in the hall. On the fourth Tuesday of each month the girls demonstrated their culinary talents by making cakes, cookies and candies to raise money.

Beta Donates New Flags

With the completion of their senior year, members of Beta Service Club have compiled a long list of projects from three years of organization.

Beginning the year, the girls presented Dr. Wilson with two fifty-star American flags which were placed in the gymnasium. Money-making projects included car washes and the sale of both doughnuts in the lobbies after school and mints to their friends and families.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, members sold colorful corsages and decorated the main office for the festive season. Besides the annual projects of the Christmas Basket Contest, the float for the W-L Pep Rally and the Service Club Sing, Beta managed the Senior Bulletin Board and sponsored a dance in the early spring. The members also ushered for the fall play.

The Beta girls added social functions to the numerous projects during the year. The girls graduated this year with the hopes that next year someone else will carry on the name they have made for Beta Service Club.

Delta Conducts "Powder Puff" Game

Delta Service Club "kicked-off" the fall season with a powderpuff football game at the W-L pep rally. Delta girls, dressed in full football uniforms, were cheered to victory by a few burly boys, wearing skirts and sweaters. Outshining other clubs, Delta also won the grand prize for their Christmas Basket, which was a large glowing candle filled with a variety of food. To serve hungry students as well as to enlarge the club's treasury, Delta sold doughnuts in the lobbies every fourth Friday after school.

In keeping with their service theme, the members contributed to the Children's Convalescent Home in Washington and to Wakefield's Gymnastics Club for some badly needed equipment. The girls finished the year by sponsoring a dance in the spring.

Epsilon Sponsors Korean Orphan

Epsilon Service Club members this year continued to send aid to a Korean orphan girl and occasionally to donate food baskets to a needy family in the Washington area. Club members also entered the annual Christmas Basket Contest, donated books to the Peace Corps book drive, and made posters to publicize athletic events throughout the year. The girls also provided the music for the Spring Mixer Dance late in the year.

While Epsilon members sold candy and held newspaper drives to raise money, they also enjoyed such social activities as horseback riding and slumber parties.

In November, the members combined work with fun and created a gigantic six-foot paper-mache General, seated on a float, entitled "A General Loss," for the W-L Pep Rally. They also participated in the Service Club Sing in April.

At their meetings every Tuesday, approximately 20 members, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Roth, participated in discussions on such topics as religion, English, and philosophy, to comply with the Service Club's new policy.

Eta Cleans Senior Court

This year is Eta Service Club's third year at Wakefield, and the girls, who are all seniors, began last summer to make its last year a memorable one.

Before school commenced, the girls helped with office work at the YMCA and made a big "pep" sign for the press box during football season. Eta continued its campaign for school spirit by decorating the goal posts for every game and by presenting the cheerleaders with flowers at one of the games.

The club's projects during the first semester included cleaning the senior court, maintaining a bulletin board, and selling doughnuts after school. One of their most popular activities was held during the Thanksgiving vacation and appropriately called the Turkey Trot. As in the past, Eta participated in the W-L pep rally and in the Christmas basket contest, where they won two honorable mention awards. Eta's special projects this year were caroling with Zeta Service Club and making festive tray favors for various hospitals in the area.

To conclude the year, the members helped with the talent show, "Here Comes the Warriors," and gave a party for the children at Junior Village.

Gamma Ushers at Concert

Under the direction of Miss Joann Hamlet, Gamma reorganized this year as a sophomore service club. The girls began the fall season with a goal to promote school spirit. To accomplish this goal, they made numerous posters to publicize the athletic and social events prominent throughout the school year. The club also prepared a "Mop-up W-L" float for the annual Washington-Lee Pep Rally. Another service project was completed in May, when the club ushered at the orchestra concert.

To aid their community, the members conducted a drive among their families and friends to collect clothing for needy families. A trip to Junior Village over the Easter holidays completed Gamma's year of service.

Iota Ushers at Fall Play

Iota Service Club, established in 1957, was one of the first service organizations founded at Wakefield. The members, primarily juniors and seniors, made the 63-64 year complete by serving both their school and their community.

Their six-foot stocking, filled with 40 pounds of candy and stuffed animals, earned an honorable mention of attractiveness in the annual Christmas Basket Contest. The girls also entered a float in the W-L pep rally. Ushering for the fall play, You Can't Take It With You, and working in hospitals as nurses' aids helped the members set standards for service. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Gindoff, first semester, and Mrs. Burger, second semester, the girls of Iota were able to complete all their plans for the year.

Kappa Paints Press Box

Kappa Service Club, formerly called Kappa Tri-Hi-Y, consists of 28 underclass girls. For community projects, these girls have worked monthly in the Muscular Dystrophy Office, collected books for the Peace Corps, and visited Junior Village. Participation in the Christmas Basket Contest, the Ugly Man Contest, and the Service Club Sing were part of Kappa's annual activities.

Members also helped Wakefield by painting the Wakefield Press Box, having a booth in the Wakefield Day exhibits, and assisting in the production of You Can't Take It With You. Washing cars, collecting newspapers, and selling pizza after school were a few of the club's fund-raising projects. Kappa girls had a complete year and plan to improve the club next year.

Lambda Donates Records to Library

Now in its sixth year at Wakefield, Lambda Service Club changed sponsors during the second semester. First under Mrs. Lesser, then under Miss Srensek, Lambda participated in many varied activities. The club, composed of tenth and eleventh-grade girls, entered the Christmas Basket contest and the Service Club Sing, competing with other clubs of Wakefield. Members also sold baked goods and net Christmas trees which aided the budget in paying for records contributed to the library.

The activities of Lambda have also extended to the community. Members made tray favors and scrapbooks for a local hospital, and volunteered their service to help in the Tuberculosis Mobile.

Omega Helps with Orientation

Omega Service Club members, wearing green and white bows, helped new, lost members of the student body. Members made maps, and guided students to their classes as part of their Orientation program.

These girls became volunteer helpers after school for Special Education circular program. Money, made when the club sold 115 pounds of fruit cake in co-operation with the Arlington Curtain Club, was donated to Camp Kentan, a summer camp for the mentally retarded.

In 1964, this senior service club started showing a series of movies on Communism and Socialism. In the spring, Omega completed its year's activities by helping the Heart Fund with its spring drive.

Omicron Helps Fight Tuberculosis

Fighting tuberculosis has been one of Omicron Service Club's chief projects this year. The girls stuffed envelopes for the Tuberculosis Association and worked in the TB X-ray Mobile. For UNICEF, the girls collected money which went to help underprivileged children in foreign countries.

In cooperation with the Red Cross, Omicron made Thanksgiving tray favors to brighten the season for hospital patients. Members also visited Junior Village, giving the children a party and small gifts.

Omicron entered a basket for the Wakefield Christmas Basket contest, and likewise entered the Service Club Sing. Participation in Wakefield Day ended an industrious year for the club.

Optimi Becomes Custodian of Totem Pole

Optimi Service Club, well known for its Open Season Dance in the Spring, centered its service activities on making a Christmas basket and donating rubber padding and covers for the training tables in the Boy's Auxiliary Gym.

Later during the year Optimi covered the training tables with the materials they had supplied. Also, the boys became caretakers of the Wakefield Totem Pole which was brought as a good luck symbol to all football games. Many people felt that without the Totem Pole our team spirit would have lagged.

In early Spring Optimi helped patch the fence on the baseball field, and on May 5 the Service Club held the annual Open Season Dance. This dance is similiar to Sadie Hawkins day in which the girls "tag" boys with whom they would like to go to the dance. It is the girl's obligation to carry the boy's books the week preceding the dance as well as to drive the boy to the dance.

Optimi finished the year by beginning a fund for a permanent pressbox on top of the football bleachers. Hoping that the funds collected will be large, the boys plan to carry over this activity into next year.

Optimi's officers are Dick Shroy, Treasurer; Dick Bawcombe, President; Ralph Rowsey, Secretary; Pete Papageorge, Vice-President; Rick Shewmaker, Service Club Council Representative.

Phi Wins Basketball Tournament

One of Phi Service Club's outstanding recreational achievements of this year was its participation in the Intra-Club Basketball Tournament. Perhaps the best game in the tournament was Phi's competition with Ultimi, in which Ultimi was defeated 27-24.

Athletic activities and recreational pleasures were not the only events of the club's year of work. Phi entered a float in the annual Washington-Lee Pep Rally, and, as a service project, the club collected canneds goods to be distributed among needy families of the area. This project was in accordance with the Christmas Basket contest among school organizations. Phi also participated in the annual Service Club Sing.

Psi Sponsors Snow Queen Ball

The activities of Psi have involved its members in a variety of school and community projects. Psi's service activities this year were channeled into four fields: international, national, local, and school. On an international level, Psi collected books for the Peace Corps and supported an overseas orphan. Nationally, the club sponsored "Penny Wednesdays" to raise money for the United States Summer Olympic team. On the local level, the club collected food for a needy family at Christmas, made Christmas favors for Arlington Hospital, collected for UNICEF, contributed to the Cerebral Palsy fund, and worked in the Cerebral Palsy offices on Saturdays.

Most of Psi's efforts, however, have gone toward school services such as painting lines on the student parking lot, providing publicity for games, plays, and dances, decorating and addressing postcards for the Senior-Alumni Dance, and selling tickets, during lunch, for the football games. The girls also sponsored an annual Snow Queen Ball and the Snow Queen Contest. In addition, Psi prepared a float for the W-L Pep Rally, participated in the Service Club Sing, and concluded the year by sponsoring a booth for Wakefield Day.

Rho Fosters World Culture

Originally chartered as a Hi-Y in 1954, Rho reorganized this year as a Service Club to continue its aid to the community and to the student body. Rho decorated the gym for several dances and entered the W-L Pep Rally as well as the Service Club Sing which the club had won for four straight years. As a service to the community, Rho contributed to the Christmas Basket contest for needy families.

Rho actively participated in the new Service Club program by showing many movies depicting cultural and social aspects of the world. Members also sold pizzas after school in order to add capital to their treasury.

The boys culminated a successful year with their booth in the Wakefield Day Fair. The club, composed primarily of upperclassmen, is leaving a few members as a nucleus to carry on their work next year.

Sigma Conducts Candy Sale

Taking the name of last year's senior Tri-Hi-Y, 25 sophomore girls organized Sigma Service Club this year. The girls accomplished a variety of projects during their first year of organization.

Chief among service activities was a Christmas basket in the form of a sled full of food, toys and clothes. As a standing project throughout the year, Sigma girls made posters advertising sports events and other activities of student interest. A trip to Junior Village, a home for orphans, brought entertainment to a few lonely children.

To raise money, the girls sponsored two car washes and sold "personalized" candy bars.

Sigma members aid the community by holding a carwash at Claredon.

Sigma officers include Carol Teller, Secretary; Anita Sarcone, President; Nina Arthur, Vice-President; Sue Purdy, Treasurer.

Tau Holds "Ugly Guy" Contest

Service clubs were organized to work for the school and community. However, Tau Service Club has tried to cover a slightly wider range by serving international causes as well as local ones. The club's support of a Korean war orphan is one of their international projects. On the community level, Tau again turned its efforts to helping children when it sponsored an October party for members of Junior Village. But for the most part, schools projects have occupied their efforts. During the summer, Tau helped in the school office, working with schedules and helping with other clerical work.

Not all of this service club's activities have been work. The girls sponsored the "Ugly Man Contest," in which students vote on their favorite "ugly man" by contributing money to a jar bearing his name and picture. This year's winner was Paul Bouchard, who reigned at the annual Zeta "Gorp." Some of their spring projects included participation in the Service Club Sing and operation of a booth at Wakefield Day.

Theta Presents Traveling Talent Contest

Beginning this year with a paper drive for fund raising, Theta Service club has compiled an impressive list of projects.

In keeping with the seasons, Theta's girls gave a Thanksgiving party for the D.C. German Orphanage; later participated in the Christmas Basket Contests, and sang carols at Arlington Hospital. During Easter, Theta organized an Easter egg hunt for the orphans of the area. They helped to bring holiday spirit to those who were without it.

Putting talents and imagination to work, Theta correlated a Traveling Talent Show which members took to the children at Junior Village and to the elderly at the Old Folks Home. Concluding the year, Theta Service club helped at St. Elizabeth's Hospital by giving a party to entertain patients.

Ultima Holds "Hootenanny"

Ultimi Service Club this year provided Wakefield with one of the most successful social events of the year, a "hootenanny," late in March. "The Journeymen," a nationally known folk singing group presented the entertainment.

As a service project, the members sold fruitcake to their friends and family for the benefit of the Retarded Children Summer Camp.

In memory of Thomas Glenn, an upperclassman who died in January, the group initiated a "Tom Glenn Memorial Cancer Drive." The purpose of this project was to raise money to help the fight against the dreaded disease.

Members of Zeta exhibit their agility by piling into a lobby phone booth.

Zeta Service Club's first activity of the year was their annual "Gorp" dance. This unique dance is anticipated each year by the students, as it accompanies the crowning of the "Ugly Man." In addition to this social service to the student body, the boys decorated for five other dances, painted the press box on the football field, and cleaned the trophy cases. The members also participated in the annual W-L pep rally, the club sing, the intra-club basketball tournament, and helped direct the Wakefield Invitational Cross Country Meet.

The highlight of the service projects proved to be the club's Christmas basket which held the honor of containing more canned goods than contributed by any other organization in Wakefield's history. The basket contained 772 cans and 15 bags of potatos.

Using their funds to the greatest advantage, Zeta donated $10 to the Cancer Association and contributed to Wakefield's successful Heart Fund Drive.

Sports

Talents project in many directions::
From learning,
To expressing oneself,
To working for others.
Athletics is no less
A part of talent—
Merely another form of self-expression.
The motives vary—
To let off steam;
To meet people;
To compete;
To demonstrate ability.
Sports is a necessary part
Of school life,
Allowing individuals
To develop fully.
To provide this opportunity—
This is our goal.

War Whoops Ring Out

Battling Warriors gave Wakefield its best record in eight years. Although the team had the lightest line in the state, the Warriors gained some of the greatest usets in Northern Virginia history. Poorly rated in the pre-season standings, they quickly showed what they had by tumbling the strong Mt. Vernon Majors by a hard-fought score of 13-7.

They went on to slip past Stuart in the last twelve seconds by a 12-7 margin and rolled over Woodson 7-2. In a non-league game, the Warriors met the state champions, Lane. For the first three quarters Wakefield held the Black Knights to a 13-12 deficit; but in the final quarter the tremendous Lane backfield broke loose for three touchdowns, defeating the Warriors 34-12.

The Warriors quickly regained their footing and smashed their next three opponents, Falls Church, George Washington, and Madison before being tied by Yorktown, 14-14. With a crowd of 6,000, Wakefield met W-L in the biggest game of the year. But when the final buzzer sounded W-L had won 16-7 and the Warriors had lost their league title.

In the final game of the season, they scalped Hammond 20-12 and ended the 1963 football season with a 7-1-1 league record. It was commented of the Warrior team by a sports reporter, "What they lacked in number, they made up in speed and brain."

Like Navy's Roger Stauback and Texas' Scott Appleton, the Warriors also had star standouts. Although the Warriors had great teamwork, the squad was spirited by the brilliant defensive plays of Bob Landry. Throughout the season he averaged approximately 10 tackles per game and in post-season play he was named as one of the all-Northern Virginia guards and was mentioned as one of the All-Metropolitan guards. The offensive team was led by Dave Spiker, Richard Kennedy, Robbie Elliot, and Bob Riordan. Just as Notre Dame's four horsemen rode to fame, likewise these four brought Wakefield fame and victory.

But it was not these five boys alone who gave Wakefield its brilliant record. The real victory was not won only on the field, it was won in the long, hard, painstaking hours of practice which in the end gave Wakefield victory in the eyes of the public.

The Warriors

After suffering their first defeat of the year to Lane, the Warriors came home to play host to the Falls Church Jaguars. Five thousand stunned fans saw the Jaguars take a commanding 18-6 half-time lead. But as the second half started, there appeared a new, spirited Warrior team. Fighting against overwhelming odds, the Warriors gained a 20-19 win in their hardest-fought victory of the season.

Aside from Falls Church, the Madison Warhawks proved to be the toughest opponent of Wakefield. Playing on the Madison hunting grounds, the Warhawks got off to an early 6-0 lead. The Warriors quickly rebounded to lead 7-6. In the beginning of the fourth quarter, the fans saw Wakefield behind 19-7, but the tribe began to move. The Warhawks' defenses gave way in the final seconds, and the Warriors slipped past defeat to hard-won victory by a slim margin of 20-19.

Soccer Team Sets

Under the capable direction of Mr. Edward Reynolds, the Warriors remained undefeated in Virginia competition throughout the season. With the aid of seven varsity returnees, the soccer team compiled a record of 5 wins, 4 losses and 2 tie games.

The first game against Annandale was a shutout, 7-0, after which the Warriors were defeated by Walt Whitman, 0-3. Wakefield tied its only game against the American University freshmen 1-1. This tie preceded a victory over the Annandale Atoms, 4-1, in which no first-string players participated. Running into a losing streak, the Warriors were defeated by Whitman High School 1-3, Blair High School 1-5, and Northwestern High School 1-2. The team soon regained its finesse and defeated the University of Virginia freshmen in a second shut-out game, 2-0. In the next game the Warriors whitewashed Bethesda Chevy-Chase with a score of 1-0. The second meeting of B.C.C. and Wakefield ended in a 3-3 tie.

Scoring more goals than any other previous year, the soccer team retained for the fifth year its mythical title of Virginia High School League Champions.

Cross Country Squad Runs 10,892 Miles

Although plagued with injuries, the Varsity Cross Country squad, under the direction of Mr. Stein, struggled courageously this year to compile a record of 3 wins and 5 losses. The team averaged six miles of running practice a day and competed in a total of 30 meets.

Instead of the usual captain or co-captains, the 1963 team chose tri-captains: Tom Colwell, Alan Lamb, and Randy Cook. This was the first break in the tradition of the Cross Country team, but it proved to be a successful maneuver.

Wakefield, for the sixth consecutive year, competed against the Navy Plebes and the Maryland freshmen. Although defeated in this college competition, the team went on to place fourth in the Northern Virginia high school competition.

In the 1963 state meet, the Warriors placed eleventh out of 30 competing teams. Alan Lamb, number-one man on the team, was presented the Carlos Hernandos Award for performing the greatest service for his team and school.

Trackmen Place Fourth in District

Led by outstanding trackmen, the Warriors were able to topple some very formidable opponents this year. Opening the season against St. Johns, the trackmen were edged out by a score of 46-38, but the next week the Warriors avenged themselves against St. Johns with a victory of 41-39, as Dave Cook set a new two-mile record.

Next, the Warriors prepared to meet Episcopal on their home court. Pressured throughout the meet, the team was unaware of the outcome—a 48-47 Wakefield victory—until the last event was run. After suffering at the hands of Woodberry Forrest, various members of the team entered the D.C. Armory meet and the Maryland Freshmen meet at the end of the season.

At the completion of the regular season, the trackmen traveled to Lexington for participation in the annual state meet. The trackmen competed against thirty-one state schools and placed twelfth. In an impressive showing the Warriors closed their season with the Northern Virginia Tournament in which they placed fourth out of twenty schools.

Warriors Sweep Northern Virginia

Seven strong seniors composed the bulk of the "Cinderella" team of Northern Virginia. The Wakefield Varsity Basketball team set a 11-7 league record and an over-all record of 14-8, but this record, though not the best, will long be remembered for its surprising upsets.

Potentially the Warriors had one of the best teams in the state, but they were unable to work as a team until midway through the season.

The hoopsters, to the surprise of many, dropped their first two games, to Yorktown 56-45 and to McLean 56-53, before downing O'Connell 54-42. The Warriors received their worst defeat of the season from Fairfax by the stunning score of 80-57. The Varsity quickly rebounded to sink Yorktown 44-42, only to be downed by George Washington 45-37 before defeating Mt. Vernon, Edison, and Stuart with respective scores of 58-43, 55-28 and 45-43.

Next to the tournament, the greatest surprise to the Northern Virginia fans was the upset of Stuart on its home court. A sellout crowd of over 2,000 saw the Warriors turn back the hottest team in group 1A basketball and this shattered their hopes for first place and a trip down state. This upset however seemed to move the Warriors very little and as a result they lost their next three games in a row to Groveton 54-48, to arch-rival Washington-Lee 49-38 and to Falls Church 50-48.

These last three defeats were to have a tremendous effect on the hoopsters. The Warriors became the hottest team in the state and won their last six games in a row by downing Madison 62-56, Hammond 56-44, Woodson 68-61, Marshall 82-41, Lee 65-35 and Annandale 80-62, and thus gained a berth in the Northern Virginia Tournament.

Even with Washington-Lee's Hummer, there was no stopping the Warriors as a startled crowd of over 6,000 saw Wakefield out-rebound W-L and even Stuart wasn't going to stop them. With the outstanding performance of the "fighting five," the Warriors pulled ahead of the Raiders 76-63 and the dark horse of the tournament was proving to be the most powerful team in the area.

But this wasn't enough for the Warriors and they were out to stop the seventeen-game winning streak of George Washington and capture the Northern Virginia championship, and capture it they did. Before a crowd of over 6,000, the warriors lead the entire game and downed the unconquerable G.W. team 70-59 and the "Cinderella team" of Wakefield was statebound.

Seated eighth in the state tournament, Wakefield was pitted against the tenth-ranked team in the Nation, the Typhoons of Newport News. The experience and ability of the Typhoons proved too much for the Warriors who were defeated 66-37 and the "Cinderella team" was now only a part of history.

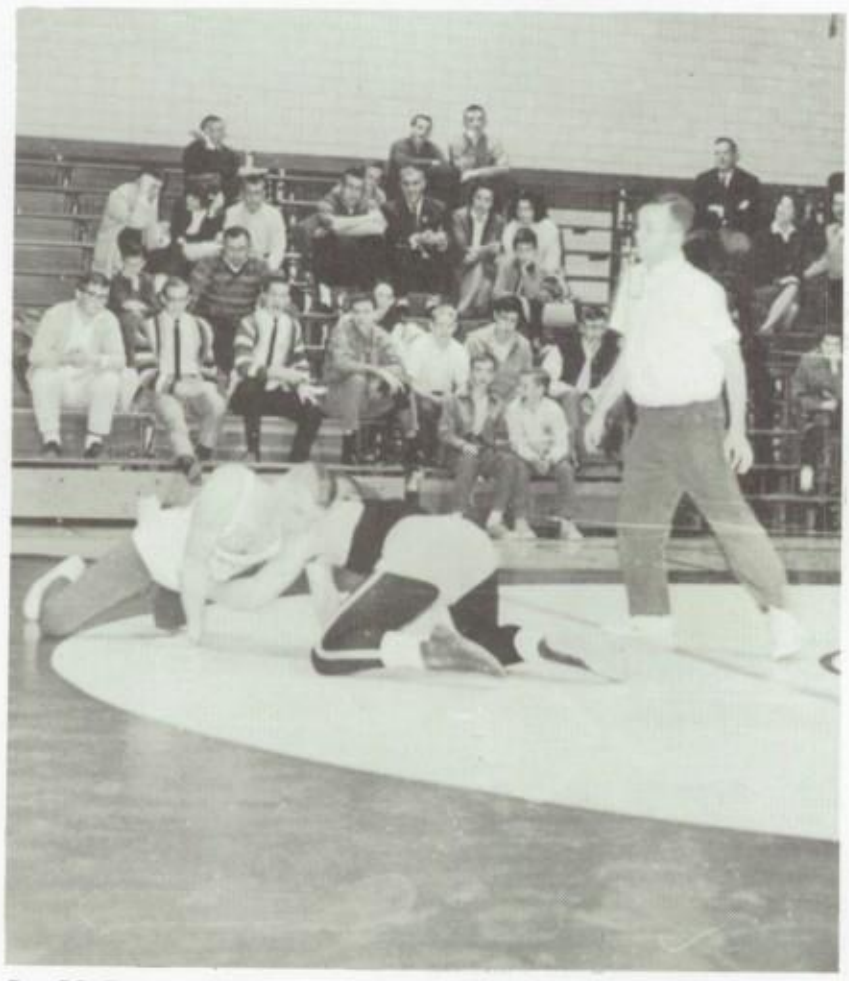
Wakefield Wrestlers Retain Title



Joe McGuire attempts a "take down."

With the return of four letterman, the grapplers compiled the best record in Wakefield history. Highly rated in the pre-season standings, the Warriors quickly demonstrated their prowess by smothering Woodson 36-6. Their next two opponents, Lee and Stuart, were easily beaten with respective scores of 40 to 6 and 34 to 6. The greatest surprise of the Stuart meet was the defeat of State Champion Francis Olexy by Bob Newkirk.

Now on the move, the Warriors took on arch-rival Washington-Lee and Yorktown in a triangular meet. With an unfaltering desire to win, the state-bound Warriors defeated Yorktown and W-L by scoring twice as many points as their opponents combined. Steadily gaining momentum, the grapplers took on Maury High School of Norfolk in what proved to be the toughest match of the season. Losing by 13 points with three matches left, Bob Landry brilliantly reversed his opponent for a pin while Bob Newkirk won a decision, and Larry Randall gained another pin to tie the invaders from Maury. The wrestlers defeated their last six victims by impressive scores of 23-21 over Norview,

The excellent coaching of Mr. Blue helped the Warriors compile their first undefeated season in Wakefield history. Climaxing the season with the state meet, the Warriors set out to gain the Virginia Wrestling title. However, their dream was shattered when they were held back by formidable opponents, Granby and Maury.

Track Team Opens with Hoffman-Boston

The Varsity outdoor track team, under the leadership of Mr. Stein, got the '64 season off to a good start by defeating Hoffman-Boston on Wakefield's home ground. With a balanced squad, Wakefield will again prove to be one of the strongest teams in Northern Virginia. Showing strong ability in the field events, the Warriors should do well in a dual meet and should make a fine showing in the larger meets.

Warrior Nine Out to Win

Last year the surprisingly young Warrior team, composed mostly of juniors, broke all predictions and took first place in Northern Virginia group I-A baseball. With high spirits and determination, the Warriors brought the baseball championship to Wakefield for the first time in her history. This year the team hopes to repeat their last year's record and, in addition, expects to sweep the Northern Virginia tournament. Lead by seven strong seniors, Mr. McCullock, the varsity coach, anticipates that his boys will bring him the district championship of group I-A baseball.

Tennis Team Ready to Defend Championship

Mr. Haithcock's varsity tennis team is ready to defend its Northern Virginia Tennis Championship. With one returning letterman, two seniors, and many talented juniors and sophomores, a successful season is anticipated. Mr. Haithcock says that the toughest opponents will be Annandale, Yorktown, and W-L.

After narrowly losing to Wheaton at the beginning of the year, the team returned to trounce Mclean. The rain has forced postponement of several matches, but this has not affected the team's spirit.

Mike Manne, Dave Helscher, and David Nanney prepare to play doubles.

Neil Van Tuyl serves to his opponent, Roger Pelissier.

Roc Bottomly awaits the serve as Jeremy Kahn, Brent Brewington, Wayne Jones, Skip Obertone, and Neil Van Tuyl look on.

Champions need practice.

Tom Knight and Brice Pace prepare to receive serve as Brent Brewington practices against the backboard.

Gymnastic Team Second in State!

Under the direction of a new coach, Mr. Ponis, the Varsity Gymnastics team completed a most successful season. Although the team lost three of its four individual meets, it did make a good showing at the state meet. Late in January, the squad met Yorktown at Wakefield and lost to the Patriots by a slim margin.

After participating in the Virginia Scholastic Meet held at Yorktown, in which Al Gatti took five first places and George Herman placed third in the rope climb, the Warriors defeated a strong, well-balanced Wheaton squad. However, only four days later, the Warriors journeyed to Wheaton High School and were defeated in a very close match, before participating in the Yorktown Invitational Meet in which the Warriors placed second.

Certain members of the squad took part in the Senior Championships held in the District of Columbia while the rest of the team practiced for the state meet. Competing against the best gymnasts in the state, the Warriors fought back, conceding no events, and won a hard-earned second place in the state.

Rifle Team Meets Tough Competition

For the third year in a row, the Rifle team was organized as a varsity sport and as a junior varsity sport for the second year. This year's competition was limited to four other schools—Lee, Washington-Lee, Woodson, and Annandale.

The team members were chosen for the best scores of the rifle club. The regular members were subjected to change if their scores fell below the other members of the rifle club. If a member was unable to participate in a meet, he was replaced by an alternate with the highest score.

Co-sponsored by Mrs. Helena Powell and Mr. John Sasscer, the rifle team began its season in December by meeting at Fort Myer, where members of the team could receive coaching from armed forces experts in guns.

The rifle team compiled a 2-and-6 record for the '64 season. The Wakefield Rifle team is looking forward to a more successful season next year.

Rambeau, C. Henslee, M. Garlick, B. Koehne, W. Cook, B. Limerick.

J. V. Football Compiles 5-3 Record

Running from a T formation, the junior varsity football team compiled a 5-3 record. Under the direction of Mr. Day and Mr. Oliver, the Baby Warriors opened the season by defeating Stuart.

They later defeated Fairfax, Falls Church, Mt. Vernon, Woodson, and Hammond; lost only to George Washington, Washington-Lee, and Yorktown. With this fine record, the Varsity should look for another winning season next year.

J. V. Cross Country Faces Tough Competitio

Though the trackmen were unable to compile a winning season with a record of 4-6 in dual meets, they did show great team spirit. Pitched against some outstanding junior varsities, they gave each opponent tough competition but were unable to bring forth the extra effort which gives a team victory. The team defeated Bishop D. J. O'Connell, Quantico, Francis C. Hammond, and Sidwell Friends high schools.

J. V. Wrestlers Top Previous Records

Under the fine ability and the able and experienced coaching of Mr. Lassiter, the Junior Varsity Wrestling team completed the season with a 9-1 record. With the strengthened talent and increased depth, the junior grapplers smothered most of their opponents. Opening the season against Woodson, the Warriors stunned their opponents by a 37 to 11 defeat.

The baby grapplers went on to defeat their next seven opponents, Lee, Yorktown, Episcopal, Woodberry Forest, Stuart, Yorktown and O'Connell with respective scores of 45-3, 39-10, 39-3, 36-13, 28-22, 24-19, before losing to arch-rival Washington-Lee 23-22, in a hard-fought game. Quickly recovering from their loss, the Warriors came back to defeat their last two opponents, George Washington and Hammond, with scores of 42-8 and 29-30.

J. V. Basketball Sets 15-3 Record

Coached by Mr. Albert McCullock, the Junior Varsity Basketball team recorded a phenominal 15-3 season. Getting off to a tremendous start, the baby hoopsters outscored Yorktown 34-32 and toppled Mclean 48-24, O'Connel 40-33, Fairfax 48-36 and Yorktown 31-26 before losing to George Washington in a thrilling 46-42 duel.

The team quickly rebounded against Mt. Vernon by a 59-20 slaughter but only a week later were defeated by the Eagles of Edison 37-31. The Warriors won their last nine games, losing only to Falls Church 49-32, while defeating Stuart 40-29, Groveton 37-36, Washington-Lee 46-23, Madison 55-35, Hammond 51-43, Woodson 36-33, Marshall 51-43, Lee 48-39 and Annandale 50-27.

In the Junior Varsity Tournament the J.V. downed Edison in the first round, but lost to George Washington in the semi-finals.

J. V. Baseball Shows Great Promise

The J.V. baseball team, coached by Mr. Ponis, is expected to be a strong team this year. Heading the schedule of teams to play are W-L, Yorktown, and O'Connell.

SCHEDULE

O'Connell	Stuart	O'Connell
Yorktown	Groveton	Hammond
G-W	W-L	Woodson
Mt. Vernon	Falls Church	Annandale
Edison	Madison

J. V. Track Develops Talent

With many outstanding sophomores from the feeder junior high schools, the Junior Varsity track team should again complete a very successful season. The Warriors will have another tough schedule in meeting many outstanding opponents from high schools throughout the area. Having such talent, the squad should provide the needed strength to have a winning varsity team in '65.

BISA Encourages Division Competition

Boys' Intramural Sports Association, under the direction of Mr. Swatt, has offered a wide range of activity, ranging from basketball to swimming. This program has been offered to boys who did not go out for, or who were cut from, a varsity or junior varsity team.

Various tournaments were held throughout the year, centering around basketball. Beginning with three-man basketball which was won by a team comprised of Ron Durham, Ronnie Fletcher and Tony Duehring, the tournaments moved into five-man basketball and ended with the Service Club Tournament won by Phi. Phi, Ultimi, Zeta, Hoyean, and Rho were represented in this tourney, but Phi, led by Barry Chewning, Skip Harding, BISA members enjoy a "lawless" basketball game.

John Keys, Bill Parker, and Ronnie Martin, swept the division.

The Boys' Intramural Program was held after school from three to four p.m. for all boys who wanted to participate to gain intramural points. Other sports such as bowling, golf, and swimming were held throughout the year.

All other activities, excluding the Service Club Tournament, were held between divisions, which this year served as a new and different approach to the intramural program.

G. A. A. Holds Open House

The aim of the Girls' Athletic Association is to provide the girls of Wakefield with the opportunity to participate in wholesome recreational activities in the spirit of good sportmanship. It also strives to create a further interest in athletic programs through intramurals, playdays, and sportdays.

The membership is open to all girls, but only those with a hundred points are active voting members. These girls participates in activities ranging from the outdoor sports of field hockey, tennis, and softball to the indoor games of basketball, trampoline, and volleyball.

Highlighting the year were the Open House, the Awards Teas, and the annual spring and fall camping trips to Prince William Forest at Quantico, Virginia. At the Open House, prospective members met the officers of the GAA and participated in relays and games. Girls from Hoffman-Boston and W--L joined Wakefield GAA members for the spring camping trip.

GAA Officers—Sitting: Carol Horton, Secretary; Barbara Frye, President. Standing: Suzanne Holmes, Treasurer; Linda Bradley, Recorder of Points; Mrs. Edson, Sponsor; Francoise Guillaume, Recorder of Points; Peggy Bialla, Vice-President.

J.V.'s Attend "Activity Night"

Each fall a new squad of Junior Varsity Cheerleaders is chosen from a large group of sophomore and junior girls. Representatives from each homeroom and several teachers judge the girls on the pleasantness of their appearance, projection of their voice, and coordination of the group cheers and individual cheers.

The J.V. Cheerleaders chosen have only a few weeks to practice before they cheer for the Junior Varsity Football games. In winter, the girls cheer for J.V. Basketball and throughout the year they help Varsity Cheerleaders with money-raising projects, including selling white mums for a football game and "Our Team Is Tops" ribbons.

An Activity Night planned for Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders was initiated this year. Miss Heier, J.V. sponsor, and Miss Wolf, Varsity sponsor, helped plan a night of competition and fun between the two squads. The girls played volleyball and basketball and later talked over refreshments.

"Green and White Fight"

"Beat on the tom toms; signal to the sky; We are the Wakefield Warriors and here's our battle cry."

Shouts of "Beat 'em Bust 'em! That's our custom!" fill the crowded bleachers as varsity cheerleaders jump and twirl in excitement over the games.

The girls, led by co-captains Sandy Leathers and Pat Burch, carried on the tradition of Silence Day and the Pep Rally in preparation for the big game with rival Washington-Lee. Because of rain, the Pep Rally was cancelled; but despite this dismal weather, the cheerleaders kept spirits high with an impromptu rally in the boys' gym.

The girls' uniforms for the football season were the traditional green pleated skirts and white sweaters, sporting the Wakefield letter. A change was made for basketball season, when the uniforms were replaced with green skirts with white pleats and white blouses with the girls' names embroidered in green, and green vests.

Continuing another Warrior tradition, cheerleaders wore their uniforms to school the day of an athletic event. The effectiveness of this group's efforts to raise school spirit was recognized by the Monogram Club. Each member of the Monogram Club holds at least one letter for athletic participation. This year, for the first time, the cheerleaders were invited to join the organization.

Majorettes Twirl At Games

Led by Co-captains Dorris Ward and Denise Frazer, the Majorettes help to promote the atmosphere of the football season. During the halftime at the games, the Majorettes put on an exciting performance for the fans. Under the direction of Mr. Lewis, the Majorettes participated in the George Washington parade with the band and both organizations placed second out of more then twenty high school bands and Majorette squads.

The Majorettes have played an extremely vital role in promoting the Warrior spirit. During May of each year, the girls are selected for the squad based on their ability to twirl and march. The senior Majorettes who graduated this year received gold and silver pins for their superb performance throughout the year.

The Majorettes march in the Bethesda Christmas Parade in early December.

During the Hammond half-time Denise Frazer twirls a fire baton.

Captain Doris Ward leads the Majorettes in their first parade in Maryland.
